SENATE.

Long before the hour for the meeting, the galleries and corridors leading to the Senate were densely thronged by an immense audience, eager to hear the speech of Senator Sumner who had been announced to address the Senate on the San Domingo question. The diplomatic and ladies' galleries were almost entirely monopolized by the fair sex. At 12 o'clock the spectacle was one of the most animated ever witnessed in the Senate Chamber. Mr. Sumner's appearance on the floor was welcomed by the galleries with applause. Upon the conclusion of the reading of the journal, Mr. Sumner took the floor and asked for the reading of the resolution recently submitted by him and already published, against the use of the United States naval forces to uphold Baez in his attempt to sell out his country, in violation of its Constitution, and threatening the integrity and existence of the friendly power of Hayti. He then submitted and had read by the Secretary an additional resolution as follows:

Resolved, That whatever may be the title to the Territory under an unratified treaty, it is positive after the failure of the treaty in the Senate, that all pretext of title ceased so that our government is in all respects a stranger to the territory, and without excuse or apology for any interference against its enemies, foreign or domestic, and therefore any belligerent intervention or act of war on the coast of the Island of San Domingo, after the failure of the Dominican treaty in this Senate, is unauthorized violence, without support of law or reason, and proceeding directly from that kingly prerogative which is disowned by the Constitution of the United States.

Mr. FENTON called attention to the fact that in the pressure to gain admittance to the galleries, hundreds of ladies had been excluded. He therefore moved that the cloak room and corridors in the rear of the Senate Chamber be opened for their accommodation. No objection being made the Sergeant-at-Arms was directed to carry out the motion as an order.

Mr. THURMAN hoped the Senator from Massachusetts (Mr. Sumner) would not be interrupted at the expiration of the morning hour, but would be allowed to proceed regularly. It was so ordered.

Mr. SUMNER then arose and addressed the Senate at length, speaking from the seat of his colleague, Mr. Wilson.

Mr. SUMNER, in his opening paragraph, definitely asserts that it is now on evidence before the Senate, that the Navy of the United States, under orders from Washington, has been engaged in measures of violence and belligerent intervention, levying war without authority of Congress. The whole business, he adds, is aggravated when it is considered that the declared object of this violence is the acquisition of foreign territory, being half an island in the Carribean Sea, and still further, that this violence has been employed, first, to maintain a treaty of a ruler, himself a usurper upholding him in power, that he might sell his country, and secondly, it has been employed to menace this black republic of Hayti. Such a case, Sumner continues is too grave for silence. For the sake of the navy, the administration, Republican institutions and for the sake of the Republican party, which cannot afford to become responsible for such conduct, the case must not pass without inquiry, but beyond all these considerations is the commanding rule of justice. The question is not whether the acquisition of San Domingo is desirable, but whether we are justified in the means employed to accomplish this acquisition, and the evidence now before us shows too clearly that the means have been employed which cannot be justified. He had supposed that the proceedings regarding the treaty for annexation were blameless until while it was pending before the Senate, the assistant Secretary of State, brought him numbers of dispatches, among which was one from our consular agent there who signed the treaty of annexation, from which it is distinctly apparent that Baez while engaged in selling his country, was maintained in power by the Navy of the United States. Unless the reports of the State and Navy Department are discredited, it is obvious beyond doubt that our Government has seized war powers carefully guarded by the Constitution, and without the authority of Congress has employed them to trample on the independence and equal rights of two nations co-equal with ours. The Senator then characterized Baez and Grant as co-partners in the melancholy affair, and carefully reviews the history of the former, and his unscrupulous usurpation; also recites the origin of the scheme annexing half the island, which is generally known.

Baez was obliged to invoke foreign assistance. "Help me, Cassius, or I sink," cried the Grand Citizen to the European powers, but they would not listen. None of them wanted his half of the island. Not Spain, not France, not England. None would take it, but still the Grand Citizen cried out, when at last he was relieved by an answering voice from our republic. A young officer, inexperienced in life, ignorant of the world, untaught in the Spanish language, unversed in international law, knowing absolutely nothing about the intercourse between nations, and unconscious of the constitution of his country, was selected by the President to answer the cry of the "Grand Citizen." In closest association with Baez, and with profitable concessions not easy to measure, was this American known as disloyal to our country, and so thoroughly suspected that the military plenipotentiary before leaving Washington was expressly warned against him but "like sup seeks" and he at once rushed in the embrace of the selfish speculator, who boasted of his intimacy beyond that of all Americans, with Samana, and the annexation negotiate to their close and who did not hesitate to instruct Baiz Jr. that it was not only his right but duty to keep an American Citizen in prison, to serve and protect the negotiations in which our President was interested and which he denominated great business in hand. By the side of Cazneau was Fabius, also a speculator, and a life long intriguer. Afterwards he was Envoy extraordinary and Minister Plenepatentary of Baez, in the great business. A treaty was signed by which the usurper pretended to sell his country to the United States for $1,500,000; also another treaty leasing the Bay of Samana for an annual rent of $150,000. The latter sum was paid down by the young plenipotentiary, or $100,000 cash and $50,000 in muskets and in a battery. The usurper thus obtains the navy of the United States to maintain him in his treason.

By the Dominican Constitution of 1866, it is solemnly declared that neither the whole nor any part of the territory of the Republic can ever be alienated, while the President took the following oath of office: "I swear, by God and the Holy Evangelists, to keep and cause to be kept the Constitution and laws of the Dominican people, to respect their rights and maintain their national independence." Previous Constitutions had said "no part of the territory of the Republic can be alienated," but now, as if anticipating recent events, it was declared: "Neither the whole or part," thus explicitly excluding the power exercised. All this was set aside while the plot went on. Even if Baez had defied the Constitution of his country, our Government, in dealing with him, could not do so. In negotiating with another power, our great Republic which is an example to other nations, cannot be insensible to the restrictions composed by the constitution of the contracting party. This duty becomes stranger from the very weakness of the other side. Defied by the Dominican usurper, all these restrictions must be sacredly regarded by us. This is an established rule of International law. Thus the constitutions of both contracting Republics and the law of nations were all set at nought in this great business.

Davis Hatch, of Norwalk, Connecticut, was guilty of writing letters to a New York journal exposing the character of Baez. The latter arrested him as soon as his second usurpation succeeded, and imprisoned him, and he was detained in prison by the authority of the usurper at the special instance of Cazneau, and with the connivance of Babcock, in order to prevent his influence against the treaty of annexation. This evidence is explicit and unanswerable. Mr. Gantier, our Minister to Baez, who had signed the treaty, in an official note to our consular agent, dated at San Domingo February 19, 1870, and communicated to the State Department, says: "I desire that you will be good enough to assure his Excellency, the Secretary of State at Washington that the prolonged sojourn of Hatch here has been only to prevent his hostile action in New York. Nor is this all. Cazneau had the equal hardihood to write to Babcock, then at Washington, under date of February 19, 1870, a similar version of the conspiracy, where, after denouncing our commercial agent at San Domingo who was urging the liberation of Hatch, he proceeded to say that the latter would certainly make the use of his liberty to join the enemies of annexation. A few weeks of restraint would not be so convenient to him, as his slanderous statements might become to the success of General Grant's policy in the Antelles, and that in reply to our commercial agent, insisting in the presence of Baez that Cazneau was opposing the liberation of an innocent man. He urged that President Baez had the right and ought to do everything in his power to serve and protect the negotiations in which our President was so deeply interested. In other days it was said that the best governments are those where an injury to a single private citizen is resented as an injury to a whole country. Here was a respected American citizen imprisoned, declared by our Consular agent to be an innocent man, in the words of Cazneau, "To serve and protect the negotiations in which our President Grant was so deeply interested." To cry "I am an American citizen" was nothing to Baez, nothing to Cazneau, nothing to Babcock. The young plenipotentiary heard the cry and answered not. Annexation was in peril, annexation could not stand the testimony of Hatch, who would write in the New York papers, therefore he was doomed to prison.

The ships of our navy were used to menace the town of Puerto Plata and protect Baez and his agents at all points on the coast. The treaty was rejected in June last and no pretext remained for any intervention, but the navy continued to interfere. On July 21st Commodore Greer reported this opinion, that the withdrawal of it would lead at once to a revolution. In September there was danger of an outbreak in San Domingo, and troops were sent to support Baez from our fleet. Many other proofs are afforded by documents that nothing but the armed force of the United States has sustained Baez.

In February, 1870, Admiral Poor appeared with the "Dictator" and the Severn, at Port Au-Prince, and declared, therefore, if any attack should be made upon the Dominican, meaning the usurper Baez during the said negotiations under Haytien or any other flag, it would be regarded as an act of hostility to the United States flag, and would provoke hostility in return. Such was his language in the executive mansion of the President of Hayti. The Rear-Admiral reports the dignified reply of the President and Secretary of State, who said that while they were aware of their weakness, they knew their rights and would maintain them and their dignity as far as possible, and must be allowed to be judges of their own policy, or words to that effect. In fact, the Rear-Admiral told the Haytien President that if any sails under the Haytien or any other flags were found in Dominican waters, he would sink or capture them.

The concluding exclamation of the Duke of Wellington was, "There can be no such thing, my lords, as a little war." Senators asserted there may be a war without a battle, and so our navy has thus far conquered without a shot, but it's presence in Hayti and Dominica was war. He then minutely reviews the testimony to this effect as furnished by the State and Navy Departments from which it appears that the very agent who signed the treaties, officially reported that the usurper was maintained in power by our guns: But intervention in Dominica is only one part of the story, even according to the reluctant confession of the Navy Department. In the effort to secure the much coveted territory. Our Government was not content with maintaining Baez in power by occupying the harbors of Dominica with war ships of the United States but sent other ships, being none other than our powerful monitor "Dictator," with the frigate "Severn," as a consort, and with the yet other monitors in their train to menace the black republic of Hayti, by an act of war. An American Admiral was found to do this thing, and an American Minister, himself of African blood, was found to aid the Admiral. The dispatch of the Secretary of State, instituting this act of war is not communicated to the Senate, but we are sufficiently enlightened by that of our Minister at Port Au Prince, who, under date of July 17th, 1871, informs the State Department in Washington that he had transmitted to the Haytein Government a notification that the United States asked and expected it to assume strict neutrality in reference to the International affairs of San Domingo. This assault upon the independence and equality of the Black Republic is unjustifiable.

Enlarging upon the declaration that the President had placed himself at the head of a more costly 'Ku-Klux' than those of the South, Mr. Sumner proceeded to say "Had the President been so inspired as to bestow on the Southern unionist, white and black, one half of his time in zeal, will, personal attention and personal interference which he has bestowed upon his attempt to obtain half an island in the Carribean Sea, our Southern "Ku-Klux" would have existed in name only, while tranquillity would have reigned everywhere within our boundaries. [General applause in the galleries and hisses.]

Vice President—The chair cannot consent that there shall be any manifestations of approval or disapproval in the galleries, and he reprehends one as promptly as the other. If they are repeated he must enforce order.

Mr. SUMNER proceeded: "Now, as I desire the suppression of the Ku Klux wherever it shows itself and the elevation of the African race, I insist that the Presidential scheme which instals "Ku-Klux" on the coasts of San Domingo, and which insults the African race in the black republic of Hayti, shall be fairly represented. I speak now of that "Ku Klux" of which the President is declared to be the head, and I speak for the African race, whom the President has trampled down. Is there any Senator in earnest against the Ku Klux? Let him arrest it at once on the coast of San Domingo. Is there any Senator ready at all times to seek the elevation of the African race. Here is occasion for his best efforts."

Sumner adds: It appears more fully in the report of the Navy Department, which is an authentic record of acts both flagrant and indefensible. It is a gross violation of international law and of the Constitution of the United States, and every employment of those war powers in pursuance of this assumption was usurpation and that the assumption in the San Domingo treaty, is exceptional and abnormal, being absolutely without precedent. But even admitting some remote infinite semblance of excuse or apology, during the pending of the treaty, all of which I insist as absurd beyond question, though not utterly impossible in a quarter unused to constitutional questions, and heeding them little, conceding that the assumpsit, inserted in the treaty by the Secretary of State, he had deceived the President into the idea that he possessed a kingly prerogative, declaring war at his own mere notion and wishing to deal most gently, even with an undoubted usurpation of kingly prerogative—so long as the Secretary of State as the sworn counsellor of the President has supplied the formula for usurpation, and you will be a witness that I have done nothing but state the case. It is hard to hold back when the same usurpation is openly prolonged even after the Senate had rejected the treaty on which the exercise of kingly prerogative was founded, and when that assumpsit, devised by a Secretary of State, had passed into the limbo of things lost on earth. Here there is no remote infinitesimal part of excuse or apology. Nothing, absolutely nothing. The usurpation pivots on nonenity always, excepting the kingly will of a President, which, constitutionally, is a nonentity. The great artist of Bologne, in a much admired statue, sculptured Mercury standing on a puff of air. The President has not even a puff of air to stand on, the sole right to declare war: that is to say, a majority of both Houses, and the President must concur in it. The President has set this principle at naught. He covenanted in a treaty that was rejected, as follows: "The people of the Dominican Republic shall, in the shortest possible time, express in a manner conformable to their laws their will concerning the cession herein provided for, and the United States shall, until such expression be had, protect the Dominican Republic against foreign interposition, in order that the national expression may be free." Now, nothing can be clearer than that this provision, introduced on the authority of the President alone, was beyond his powers, and therefore, brutum fulmen, a mere wooden gun until after the ratification of the treaty. Otherwise, the President alone might declare war without the authority of an Act of Congress. Doing what he cannot do, and thus overturning that special safeguard placing what Story justly calls this "highest sovereign prerogative under the guardianship of Congress." But the treaty-making power itself belongs to the President, with a two-third Senate. The President alone cannot make treaties, and his treaty promising the use of war power, without the consent of Congress, was unconstitutional and void, and now the same usurpation is openly prolonged after the Senate has rejected the treaty, on which the exercise of this kingly prerogative was founded.

In the evidence adduced I have confined myself to public documents on this unanswerable and cumulative testimony, where such part confirms the rest, and the whole has harmony, truth, I present this transgression, and here it is not I who speak, but testimony. There stands the case. International law has been violated in two of its commanding rules, one securing the equality of nations, and the other providing against belligerent intervention, while a distinctive fundamental principle of the Constitution, of which the President is deprived of a single prerogative, is disregarded, and this very kingly prerogative is asserted by the President. This is the simplest statement. Looking still further at the facts, we see that all this great disobedience has for its object the acquisiton of an outlying tropical island, with large promise of wealth, and that in carrying out this scheme our Republic has forcibly maintained a usurper in power, that he might sell his country, and has dealt a blow at the independence of the black Republic of Hayti, which being a wrong to that Republic was an insult to the African race, and all this has been done by the prerogative alone without the authority of an Act of Congress. If such a transaction, many headed in wrong, can escape judgment, it is difficult to see what securities remain, while other sacred rules of international law may be violated. What other foreign nation may not be struck? At what other may not belligerent menace be hurled. What other kingly prerogatives may not be seized? Never before has there been such a Presidential intervention in the Senate, as we have been constrained to witness. The President visits the Capital with appeals to the Senators that have been followed by assemblies at the Executive Mansion and also with appeals to Senators, and who can measure the pressure of all kinds by himself or agents, especially through the appointing power, all to secure consummated this scheme? This do we discern in the acts of the President whether on the coasts of San Domingo or here at Washington, the same determination, with the same disregarded of great principles and are also the same recklessness towards the people of Hayti, who have never injured us. In view of these things the first subject of injury is not of soil, climate, productiveness and the possibilities, but the exceptional and abnormal proceedings of our own Government. Before condemning the treaty, or any question of acquisition, we must at least, put ourselves right as a nation. Nor do I see how this can be done without retracing our steps and consenting to act in subordination to international law and the Constitution of the United States. Therefore on the question of acquisition I say nothing to-day, only alluding to some questions involved in the question. Whether we will assume the bloody hazards involved in this business, as it has been pursued with alternative expenditures for war, ships and troops, causing more painful anxieties while the land of Toussaint L'Ouverture listens to the constant whisper of independence and there is still that other question of debts and obligations, acknowledged and unacknowledged, with an immense claim by Hayti, and an unsettled boundary which I have already called a bloody law-suit. To my mind there is something better than belligerent intervention and acts of war, with menace and absorption at untold cost to the treasury. It is a severe and humane effort on our part to inspire peace, to reconcile Hayti and Dominica and establish tranquility throughout the island. Let this be attempted and our Republic will become an example worthy its name and the civilization which it represents, while the Republican institution will have new glory. The blessings of good men would attend such an effort, nor would the smile of heaven be wanting, and may we not justly expect the President to unite in such measures of peace and good will? "He that ruleth his spirit is greater than he that taketh a city," and so the President ruling his spirit in subjection to humane principles, international law and the Constitution of his country, will be greater than if he had taken all the islands of the sea.

After speaking three and a quarter hours, Mr. Sumner at 3:30 o'clock concluded.

Mr. MORTON arose and said that he did not propose to reply to reply to Mr. Sumner at this time, as he would require time and preparation, but he would endeavor to simply show that the sole object of that Senator's elaborate speech, was to charge the President and at least two members of his Cabinet, with the commission of high crimes and misdemeanors. It had been decided, in order to settle differences of opinion on the subject to send a Commission to the Island of San Domingo, who should report to the country upon the propriety of annexation, and the questions therewith connected. Though personally in favor of annexation, he had agreed to suspend his judgment until that report was made. It had been thought best to dismiss the matter from politics until the report be made, but this course was not followed by some, though he had declared, for one, his willingness to drop the subject if the Commissioners' report was unfavorable. The Senator from Massachusetts should have deferred his speech until the report was made. While he did not know anything of its character, he (Mr. Morton) felt confident the many charges made against the President and a large part of the Senator's speech would be answered by that report. The vindication of the President upon all the charges here made out would be complete on a statement of all the facts.

Mr. MORTON then had read by the Secretary a dispatch to United States Minister Bassett, from the Haytien Secretary of Foreign Affairs, assuring him that Hayti had no disposition to interfere with the free will of the Dominicans.

Mr. MORTON resumed: The Haytien Government, in violation of the law of nations, had given free passage across its territory to Cabral, and furnished him with war vessels to attack Dominica. The United States had notified Hayti that while our negotiations were pending with Dominica we would not allow her to make war on that island. This the United States had a right to do, because our Government had information to the effect that organizations were on foot in Hayti to defeat annexation. No one need tell him (Morton) that the Senator from Massachusetts was a friend of liberty or the colored people, when he so industriously spent his time in an effort to put the Democratic party in power.

Mr. HOWE said that to-day the Republican party experienced some of that anguish which swelled in the breast of Cæsar, when, having already been struck by Cassia and Cassius, he saw a third dagger uplifted by the hand of his dear friend, and there was wrung from his agonized bosom the exclamation, "Et tu brute," for to-day we had a Senator who had so earnestly urged upon the reluctant Senators the purchase of those rigid far off regions at the north pole, now turning deaf ear to the re-echoes which brought back his own exultant prophesy that our country could be nothing less than the whole American continent, with her gates upon all the surrounding seas. To-day the Senator arose not only to oppose annexation of the Island at our very doors, but to denounce as a criminal a President who had ventured in the exercise of a strictly constitutional prerogative to advise its acquisition. He (Howe) had not sought the privilege of entering an appearance here for that illustrious respondent. He would file no demurrer or interpose no dilatory pleas, but he preferred a general issue.

At this point of his remarks Howe yielded for an adjournment, when, at 5:30, the Senate adjourned.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

The following bills and resolutions were introduced and referred.

Mr. HORN a bill to secure suffrage to the people of Utah without any distinction of race, sex or previous condition of servitude.

Mr. LEONARD MEYERS a bill to place the Mission to Russia in all respects on a footing with the Missions to Great Britain, France and Germany.

Mr. HUBBARD offered a series of resolutions declaratory of what the financial policy of the government should be; that taxes should be for revenue only, and not for the benefit of class interests at the general expense; that economy requires that there should be raised only $250,000,000 of revenue, including interest, and $25,000,000 towards paying the principal of the public debt, and that in case the Committee of Ways and Means shall not be appointed at the present session, a special Committee of Seven shall be appointed, to report a reform of revenue tariff, without discrimination in favor of particular interests. The House, by a vote of fifty-two against eighty-three, refused to second the demand for the previous question.

Mr. ELDRIDGE, to test the sense of the House, moved to lay the first resolution on the table. This was disagreed to, yeas 2, namely Banks of Massachusetts, and Maynard; nays 153. The resolution was then referred to the Committee on Ways and Means, when appointed. The first resolution thus referred, is as follows:

Resolved, That a financial policy which aims merely at the rapid extinguishment of the public debt, by perpetuating the burdens of taxation, is inexpedient and impolitic, and that the faith and credit of the Government depends on the development of the revenues of the country, and their relief from inordinate taxation.

These resolutions are the same as were offered by Mr. Cox last Monday.

The question occurring on the second resolution.

Mr. COX moved to adjourn, saying he wanted to see whether San Domingo was stronger in the House than relieving the people from taxation. The House at fifteen minutes past one o'clock, adjourned.

ST. LOUIS.

Another Forrester Discovered—Sharp Detectives, as usual, at Fault.

ST. LOUIS, March 27.—The Republican had the following special, dated Memphis, 26th inst: "Forrester, the supposed Nathan murderer, made his appearance and was recognized in this city some three weeks since, but the parties recognizing him did not know he was wanted. He disappeared from the city a few days afterwards, and simultaneously with the arrival of a St. Louis detective, and it is supposed he is now concealed somewhere in this vicinity. The St. Louis detective is now working the case, but with no success, as Forrester's 'pals' will not make known his whereabouts. It is rumored that before leaving the city he said if a pardon could be procured for the twelve years he is wanted in the Illinois penitentiary, he would deliver himself to the officers and stand a trial for the Nathan murder, he having no fears as to the result of that investigation."

The abduction of Admiral Soisset and the Mayors increases the revolution which will, in a week, spread to all the larger towns, and render the position of the Government in several districts untenable.

A bill will be introduced in the Federal Parliament for the incorporation of Alsace and Lorraine under the Government of the Emperor. FINAL PEACE NEGOTIATIONS

BRUSSELS, March 27.—The negotiations for a final peace between France and Germany will soon commence. Decleng and Goulard, plenipotentiaries of France, arrived here to-day, and it is expected the first meeting of the representatives will be held this week. The French Embassy is the place agreed upon for the meetings.

THE ELECTIONS

PARIS, March 27.—The result of the elections is now known. The candidates of the central Republican Committee have been elected in all the arrondessements, except the First, Second and Seventh, where the vote was as follows: First arroundessment, number of voters registered 22,[illegible], number of votes cast 10,034; of which the Committees candidates polled 3,60[illegible]. In the Second the number registered was 22,853; votes cast 21,180; the Committee polled 4,030. In the Seventh the number registered was 20,092; votes cast 5,775.

The aggregate vote of the old officers reelected was very light. The Journal de Paris estimates the number of qualified electors, who abstained from voting at 250,000. Its opinion with regard to the election in the Montmartre and Belleville Districts was divided, some of the insurgents, considering the Committee reactionary, and refused to vote and continued to keep guard over the cannon. The others attended the polls and voted for what they believed a compromise. The city continues tranquil.

Reports of the spreading of the insurrection in Algeria are confirmed.

It is reported here that negotiations for peace will open at Brussels to-morrow.

GERMANS IN FRANCE.

BERLIN, March 27.—A message sent into Paris by General Schlattein, commanding the German troops at St. Dennis, is passive and peaceful in tone, but shows no friendliness for the insurgents.

THE FRENCH TROOPS.

The movements of troops have been going on lately with much activity in various parts of France, but they are strictly in accordance with the preliminary stipulations of peace.

NAPOLEON AT WINDSOR CASTLE.

LONDON, March 27.—Napoleon visited Windsor Castle to-day and remained an hour with Queen Victoria and family. An address of welcome was made by Lord Stanley. Marshal Canrobert's children were also present. The Castle grounds were filled with a great crowd of people who cheered the ex-Emperor heartily.

PARLIAMENTARY PROCEEDINGS.

LONDON, March 27.—In the House of Lords to-night, the bill legalizing marriage with deceased wife's sister, was rejected.

In the House of Commons, Lord Enfield stated that the Spanish Government on Saturday paid at the British Legation at Madrid, the sum demanded, as indemnity to the crew of the Tornado. A debate arose on the coast defense, during which the members of naval and military experience, declared their preference for flotillas of gunboats, over other methods of defense.

Mr. Gaschen introduced and proceeded to explain and justify the naval estimates. He observed, after a recapitulation of the figures, that the dock yards and navy of England are strong enough to defend her commerce and sail. These statements gave great satisfaction to the House, and were received with cheers.

THE CAPITAL.

Secretary Robeson on the San Domingo Business—His Vindication of the President and Argument in Behalf of the Navy—He Takes Positive Grounds—Legislative Matters.

WASHINGTON, March 27, 1871.

THE ADMINISTRATION SUSTAINED—LETTER FROM SECRETARY ROBESON.

Secretary Robeson has written a letter to Rear Admiral Lee in which he says: "I herewith enclose a copy of the letter which purports to have been addressed on the 24th day of February last, by the officer commanding the Tennessee, to Hon. B. F. Wade, chairman of the Commission sent to San Domingo on that vessel I have thought it right to correct unfounded ideas therein contained through you, as commandant of a fleet in those waters. You will preceive that in this letter the writer assumes in effect, if any person connected with the Commission was taken prisoner by the opponents of the Dominican Government within their lines, he would be in reality a spy, and might, under the rules of civilized warfare, be treated as such, because the United States has, in the opinion of the writer through the orders of its Executive, in naval vessels there, chosen to take part in the internal conflicts of the Dominican Republic. This statement is unfounded in fact and inference. The United States is dealing with a regularly constituted government, the Dominican Republic, in a manner and for a purpose not inconsistent with international law, and though a revolution against the constituted authority, for just and adequate cause inheres in every people, yet the constituted government is until it is actually overthrown the legal representative of a nation in all its relations to other people, and the right of revolution does not carry with it to revolutionists, pending their contest, the right to treat agents of other nations as enemies when not in arms against them, while they are acting as they have a right to act in accordance with the existing Government: but neither the United States nor its Executive has chosen to take any part, or has taken part, in the internal conflicts in the Dominican Republican.

The situation is this: The President of the United States has, by constitution, a right to make treaties, subject to the ratification of the Senate. The Congress of the United States in 1866 appropriated a considerable sum of money for the understood purpose of acquiring by lease or purchase a part of the Island of San Domingo. The Bay and Peninsula of Samana were considered most appropriate for a naval station, and the Republic of San Domingo itself, with its favorable position and natural resources, its friendly government and people, seemed for the purpose of commerce and civilization far more desirable for us of those fragments of our continent which lie across the gateways to our domestic commerce, and shut up the entrance to our great inland sea. To initiate all treaties is the constitutional right of the President, and he thus had the constitutional power to negotiate treaties for the cession of Samana and the annexation of the Dominican Republic. If, upon proper consultation, he thought it right and for the interest of the country, whose interests are to this extent entrusted to his judgment, it was his constitutional right if he did negotiate such treaties with the existing government of the Republic, confessedly the government both defacto and dejure. These treaties of course would be unchaote and subject to be confirmed or defeated by the action of the United States Senate and the San Domingo Republic; but by such treaties, and pending such final action, the United States acquired interest in the thing negotiated from which she could not be rightfully disturbed by any other power, and it was the plain duty of the Executive to protect, if need be the integrity of this constitutionally acquired interest, so that the subject of negotiation might remain intact until the final action of the ratifying power could be properly had, under the treaty and by means of an appropriation by Congress for such purposes we took possession of the bay and peninsula of Samana. This possession we still hold, and while our flag flies there we must protect it from every interference with the interest which it presents. In carrying out this recognized policy the Government of the United States has not fired a shot, nor landed a man in hostile attitude on the Island. San Domingo has neither interfered in the conflicts of the Dominican Republic, nor coerced any other power. It has simply announced to all people generally, and particularly to such as appeared in a threatening attitude, its determination to protect, until finally disposed of, the interest it had acquired in the Republic from the attacks from without its boundaries, and from the interference of any foreign power, so that in the event of the treaties being ratified, there will be left the thing contracted for, with no hostile possession intervening. Our right of pre-emption to do this is certainly not to make war or take part in the conflicts of the country, nor to coerce nor attempt to coerce any power. It is but the simple performance of a duty to Congress and the nation in preservation of the existing condition, of what we have constitutionally entered into, negotiations constitutionally to acquire. Under orders of the Executive, it is a part of the duty of those ships in your fleet, which may at any time be cruising in the waters of San Domingo, to maintain this status against every power, and while we would not yield the right to interfere with it to the most powerful government, we cannot concede that right even to the weakest.

[Signed.] GEO. M. ROBESON,
Secretary of the Navy.

CURIOUS JOBBING ARRANGEMENT.

A curious circumstance has been brought to light, which it is understood will be made a subject of Congressional investigation. It appears that the State of Alabama is entitled to several thousand certificates of under acts of Congress, and that W. W. Smith late Governor of that State, visited Washington, about a year since, to have the scrip issued. The Commissioner of the Land Office directed the scrip to be made out. But from some mysterious evasion, it was never issued. Some few weeks ago, Gov. Lindsay, of Alabama, received a communication from a gentleman in Ohio, charging the existence of a conspiracy for withholding this scrip, by which arrangement Alabama five per cent. bonds were to be depreciated in Wall street to sixty cents on the dollar, and then bought up by interested parties, and under the State law exchanged at par rates for this scrip. As a consequence, an examination into the matter was had, under the auspices of Gen. Lindsay, of Alabama, and a package of scrip is said to have been discovered in the Land Office, all made out, but endorsed on the envelope as withheld by direction of Senator Warner. The writer of the warning letter from Ohio charged that Ex-Governor Smith and Senator Warner were interested in this stock-jobbing conspiracy. It is said that Ex-Commissioner Wilson knows about the affair, and will no doubt make some curious revelations of this and other land jobs.

SUMNER'S SPEECH.

Among the prominent officials who came into the chamber during the delivery of Mr. Sumner's speech were Judges Davis, Miller and Bradley, of the United States Supreme Court, Secretary Robeson, Postmaster General Cresswell and General Sherman. Nearly all the members of the House of Representatives were on the floor. There has not been so large a crowd in the Senate Chamber, by far, since the impeachment trial. During the delivery of the speech Mr. Sumner was listened to with extraordinary attention, and every word uttered by him was received in respectful and almost breathless silence, with occasional half-subdued manifestations of applause in the galleries. The assertion that the President in his usurpations has not even "a puff of air to stand upon," and similar passages, were apparently suggested upon the spur of the moment and outside of the manuscript. The speech was followed by very audible murmurs of approval.

LEGISLATION ON SOUTHERN LAWLESSNESS.

The Republican members of the House special committee on the President's message have unanimously agreed that lawlessness in the South is imperative. It is therefore proposed to report a bill to-day or to-morrow, and the committee have instructed Mr. Shellabarger to prepare a draft of one for consideration at the meeting to day.

PROVISIONS OF THE BILL.

This bill, which is nearly completed, will be simple and at the same time comprehensive, and will be founded principally on existing laws, providing for their application to present contingencies. The third and last section, which is the most important feature of the bill, provides that when domestic violence and disorders shall exist in any State, and the same shall be caused by armed and organized bands combined to commit such acts, too strong to be suppressed by the State authorities, or where such authorities by reason of being in complicity or sympathy with such organized bands do not repress such orders, then that the President shall, without waiting to be called upon by the Governor or Legislature of such State issue his proclamation ordering the disbanding of such armed and organized bands, and he shall have power and it shall be his duty to use the army and navy of the United States to suppress such disorder and arrest the organized bands causing them. It provides also that, in pursuance of such duty, he may declare the disaffected district in insurrection.

PROCLAIM MARTIAL LAW,

suspend the writ of habeas corpus therein and proceed to the suppression of violence and the punishment of the offending persons. This section also embraces the provision embodied in the Shellabarger bill, that when offences punishable under this act are begun in one United States judicial district and completed in another, every such offence shall be regarded as committed in either district, and may be inquired into, tried, and dealt with the same as if wholly committed in said district. The operations of this section are by its terms limited to the 1st of June, 1872.

HOME AGAIN.

The San Domingo Commissioners and party accompanying them have returned to Washington this evening. All are well with the exception of ex-Senator Wade.

THE NEW LOAN.

The subscriptions to the new loan to-day were $7,740,000, the total amount being thus far $49,000,000. The statement has been published.

BAILEY'S EMBEZZLEMENT.

The Commissioner of Internal Revenue authorizes the statement that the actual cash defalcation of the late Collector Bailey reaches $132,642.

NEW YORK.

NEW YORK, March 27, 1871.

LAKE SHORE RAILROAD.

The Tribune's financial article says that the recent activity and buoyancy in the Lake Shore stock has been, at different times, explained in various ways by the wise ones of the street, and whatever may have been the real cause, the Vanderbilt clique have taken pains to quietly circulate the statement that an extra scrip dividend of $5,000,000, at about fourteen per cent., is to be made, which will increase the capital stock to $40,000,000, and that the road is then to be leased to the New York Central, which corporation is to guarantee seven per cent. to the stockholders of the Lake Shore. Whether this will be done or not remains to be seen. But there is no doubt whatever that at present the Central clique desire the public to believe that such is the programme.

THE DESTITUTE IN FRANCE.

The United States storeship Relief will sail from the navy yard to-morrow for Philadelphia, where she will receive a cargo of provisions for the destitute people of France. Her chief officers are: Commander George H. Perkins, and Lieutenant Commander, G. K. Haswell.

THE HOLY LAND AND JERUSALEM.

Movements are on feet to send abroad under American auspices, an expedition for the purpose of the thorough exploration of Jerusalem and the Holy Land. A committee have already been organized in this city, and are well under way towards carrying out such a plan. Last evening they held a meeting in Dr. Adams' Church, Madison avenue, at which addresses were delivered by Dr. Crosby, Rev. W. J. Budington, Rev. Drs. Hitchcock, Thompson, and others. Letters were read from the Archbishop of York, England, indorsing the movement.

IMPORTANT NAVAL MOVEMENT INTERRUPTED

It is rumored that the United States ship Ticonderoga, at the Brooklyn navy yard, third rate, ten guns, now the flag ship of Port Admiral Stringham, has been ordered to adjust her compasses with extraordinary care at once, and prepare for a special and important mission. A few weeks ago she was sent to this port to relieve the United States ship Narragansett, which latter vessel has recently sailed for San Francisco direct. Many naval officers are of the opinion that we are on the eve of some important movement in naval matters.

The Calabria has arrived from Liverpoo[l].

"The Paper" Difficulties.

Yesterday, about twelve o'clock, a legion of creditors of the late newspaper known as The Paper, assembled at the office of Alderman McMasters for the purpose of a hearing in the suits instituted by them for the recovery of wages due. The first claimant, Mr. Breen, late a reporter on The Paper, was called, and while under examination as to his claim, Mr. Shiras, attorney for Colonel J. K. Kerr, came into the office and said he was under the impression that the cases were to be heard to-morrow. He expressed the wish that the matter be postponed till that time, as he thought an arrangement could be made in the meantime which would be satisfactory to the creditors.

Mr. McClowry, attorney for three of the claimants, said, "I object to any further postponement."

Mr. Shiras—Mr. McClowry has not yet heard the proposition we have to make. I think he had better hear that before he makes an objection.

Mr. McClowry announced his willingness to hear from the gentleman; whereupon all the counsel in the case retired to the Alderman's back room for consultation.

At this juncture Mr. A. M. Gibson, late managing editor of the The Paper, came in, and upon being informed as to the state of the case, also retired to the consulting room.

What transpired at the consultation may be given in a few words. Mr. Shiras suggested that if the judgments were obtained against the parties included in the actions, his client, Col. Kerr, who was not a partner in the concern, would take an appeal, which would cause much delay in the adjustment of claims. It was therefore thought better to put the matter over another day in order to afford the creditors an opportunity to obtain judgment against the reputed owners, Messrs. Seaight & Gibson, so that their claims will be in proper shape to enable them to ask for their liquidation from any money that may remain in the hands of the Sheriff after sale of the concern upon the judgments already pending.

It was stated that Mr. Gibson said arrangements were now being made by which he hoped to be able to satisfy all demands against the concern without further litigation.

The case was then postponed until this morning between the hours of eleven and twelve.

Amusements.

PITTSBURGH OPERA HOUSE.—The attendance was not so large at this house as we would have liked to see it, considering the merits of the actress and of the piece in which she made her first appearance before a Pittsburgh audience. Oriana will be repeated to-night, when we hope to see a full house.

OPERA HOUSE.—Decidedly the best hit made this season was that of "Nicky Nubble" last night. The pantomime abounds in fun of the most delicate character, nothing being said—if our nationality may be allowed to crop out—or done to which the most fastidious could take exception. The little folks should by all means see it, as the wonderful and laughable tricks performed by Mafflt and Bartholemew will afford them matter for pleasant conversation for months to come. Parents should not forget that there will be a matinee at two o'clock to-morrow afternoon expressly for ladies and children.

TRIMBLES VARIETIES is still the rage and such is the rush that it would be well for Manager Aims if it were in his power to enlarge the auditorium of his very pleasant house. The Blondes and Brunettes are still the bright particular stars. Do not fail to see them.

MASONIC HALL.—On Monday night next the two headed girl, the most wonderful freak that nature ever indulged in, with one body two heads, two sets of limbs and two mental organizations will inaugurate a short series of receptions. In all the cities where she has been exhibited the utmost curiosity to see her has been manifested.

On Thursday and Friday evenings of this week, Miss Anna Dickinson is to lecture before the Young Men's Library Association, at Library Hall. Miss Dickinson has a reputation which draws large crowds to hear her every time she speaks in public, and of course, the hall will be quite full each night that she will appear here. On Thursday she is announced to lecture on Joan of Arc, which, according to an exchange, "gives her no opportunity to forget the proprieties and get into a passion." On Friday evening, however, she is to talk about what she calls Men's Rights, and the subject sounds like one calculated to give ample scope to just those powers supposed to be held in abeyance during the first lecture.

Shaw.

For several years a wealthy Englishmen has been spending large sums of money in adorning a large tract of land in the vicinity of St. Louis. It is now a garden of the most ample dimensions, laid out in walks, and planted with all kinds of trees and flowers that flourish so beautifully in the geniel climate of St. Louis. Immense green houses filled with delicate and tropical plants, are scattered about on the grounds, while everywhere one sees the result of the most exquisite taste and careful training. These grounds are now thrown open to the public, and with the mansion, museum, and a tract of several hundred acres for a park, have been secured by the proprietor, Mr. Shaw, to St. Louis. This splendid gift will embalm his name in blessings to the latest generations.

THE Isabella, Michigan, Enterprise speaks rather despondingly of the lumbering prospects in that county. "The lumber crops of the Chippewa, Pine and Salts is estimated at less than one half of what was anticipated in the fall. Many jobbers have lost seriously, and the man who can break camp with his accounts balanced on this year's operations may consider himself fortunate, though he counts not a dollar clear profits."

OFFICIAL PAPER Of Pittsburgh, Allegheny City and Allegheny County.

GAZETTE BUILDING: Corner of Sixth Avenue and Smithfield Street.

In pursuance of the Resolution of the Republican State Central Committee, adopted at Altoona, August 16, 1870, a State Convention, composed of delegates from each Senatorial and Representative District in the number to which each district is entitled in the Legislature, will meet in the Hall of the House of Representatives, at Harrisburg, at 12 o'clock, noon, on the 17th DAY of MAY, A. D. 1871, to nominate candidates for Auditor General and Surveyor General, and to take action upon the question of Constitutional Reform, and for the transaction of such other business as may be brought before it.

GOLD closed in New York on yesterday at 110¾@111⅛0.

THE Nashua Telegraph (New Hampshire) is desirous of seeing Hon. Schuyler Colfax, President of the United States, and to further that object places his name in nomination.

THE PEOPLE of Wisconsin ought to be supremely happy, if legislation is calculated to procure that result. The Governor of that State has already signed five hundred new laws this session, and the Legislature, it is said, is only about half through.

IT IS RUMORED that a letter will shortly be published, containing a full statement of all the facts relative to Mr. Sumner's removal from the Committee on Foreign Relations. There is, we think, no necessity for any such letter on the part of the friends of the Administration, and that it is only calculated to arouse an angry controversy. There is no use of making of Mr. Sumner more than he really is JEFF DAVIS has taken fresh courage. He feels his heart strengthened within him. Whether it was McCreary's insolent speech in Congress, Blair's re-adoption of his old infamous letter, or the revolutionary proceedings of the Democracy that has produced this effect cannot be certain, but probably all combined. At all events he has been making a speech at Selma, Alabama, in response to a serenade, in which he asserted "he would yet live to see the soverignty of the States vindicated." If justice had been meted out to him, he would have lived long enough, at all events, to have seen the soverignty of the United States vindicated.

THE Pittsburgh Commercial, unable to stand alone, is continually looking around for some prop to support its feebleness. In its issue of Monday last it exults over the fact that the New York Tribune published a letter from its Washington correspondent, relative to the prospects of the re-nomination of General Grant, and states that it expects to see the "home organ" undertake to read "it and the Tribune" out of the party. Any such attempt is a useless waste of time, as our citizens will have no difficulty in recollecting that the Commercial so disgusted the New York Tribune in September last, during the election, that it rebuked it in no measured terms, and urged our citizens not to follow its teachings, nor to vote for its candidates. The exquisite little joke of the Commercial about the reader observing that it is, after all, in pretty good company, reminds one very strongly of the old fable of, "How we apples do swim."

THE Louisville Courier-Journal gives an explanation of the origin of the Ku-Klux-Klan. It states that the original organization was composed of members of the very best Southern families, who had banded themselves together for the purposes of protection and to counteract the force of the "Grand Army of the Republic, the "Loyal League," and kindred associations in the North. The Journal goes on to declare that in its orgin the Ku-Klux was a peaceable, law-abiding association, and in proof of this fact, states that each member was compelled to take an oath to support and protect "the Constitution as given us by our forefathers." This is just where the evidence comes in, that the organization was not a law-abiding association at any time, and that it never was anything other than what it is at present, bitterly hostile to the present Constitution. It may be true, as the Journal asserts, that those who first organized the order have left it, and that it has fallen into the hands of thieves and murderers. Certain it is that thieves and murderers do control it, no matter whether its originators have left it or not. We do not believe that it ever was intended for any other purpose than that for which it is now used, and we think the oath is conclusive on this point.

CINCINNATI ASSOCIATION.

Judge Stanley Matthews and others of Cincinnati, have organized what they are pleased to term a "Central Republican Association." As usual in all such attempts, they wrap around their bantling a Republican mantle, knowing full well that should they expose the true character of their effort, their pet would be strangled in its infancy. It is one of the evidences of the great strength of the Republican organization, that any attempt to form a new party is concealed by usurping the Republican name, and swearing adherence to Republican principles. But the party in Cincinnati is a new party. If for no other reason, then, because it has introduced in its platform a creed unknown as any of the cardinal principles of Republicanism, avowed in any National Convention. We referred to this fact some time ago, and we desire to once again call attention to it.

The Republican party, from its birth, united Protection and Free Trade advocates in one common purpose. It was a matter of no moment what any man believed in this respect, and his advocacy of Free Trade or of Protection was a personal right that belonged to him, and did not in the slightest degree affect his Republicanism. Whenever that question is to be raised and made an issue, then those making such an organization are introducing elements that have not been issues of Republicanism, and they are therefore attempting to create a new party. In our little local and State elections, capital was made out of this question in many instances, and the gauntlet thrown down. We have no hesitation in saying that the majority of the Republican party will advocate Protection, and that a large number of the Democrats of the State will endorse such a movement.

But we do not propose to enter upon that question at this time, but only to remind such organizations as the one started in Cincinnati, that any attempt to raise Free Trade issues under the cloak of Republicanism will be a failure. The "Central Republican Association" of that city must stand or fall on its own platform, whatever the mongrel it espouses may be termed. It shows a knowledge of its own weakness, in endeavoring to reap the glory of a successful party in order that it may exist, in thus claiming the name of Republicanism, instead of boldly avowing itself for what it really is. Whenever and wherever we hear of a few men banded together for a special purpose, issuing new resolutions and introducing new elements under the guise of Republicanism, we feel they are well aware that their design has no hold on the community in which they live, and that they only hope for success provided they are able to deceive the people.

INTESTINE FEUDS.

Every really good hearted man, having only a desire to advance the best interests of our country, must look at the present condition of affairs in the Union, with great anxiety. He cannot fail to see that Democracy is revolutionary, and that every stride it takes toward power, revolution assumes a more positive and definate shape Unless blind to all that is passing around him he will have discovered, that the few gains made by the Democracy, have been celebrated in the life blood of Southern Union men, and that the Democratic party has not gained any prominent victory, anywhere, that has not cost the life of some good, loyal citizen of the South, by the knife of the assassin. Twelve years ago we jogged along in the discharge of our daily duties, laughing at the dangers that lowered above our heads, and never seemingly realized our true position, until the storm, in all its fury, burst upon us. Do we propose to pursue the same course again? Do we intend to allow Democracy to step into National power, as in the days of James Buchanan, in order that we may learn when too late to remedy the evil, that we have recklessly thrown away the sacrifices of the past ten years?

Ambition begets just as startling monstrosities, as ever a shock to nature brought into the world, and political ambition is a breeder of double-headed children. The death of Abraham Lincoln placed Andrew Johnson in the Presidential chair. He broke the onward march of Republican triumphs. He cast the first stumbling block in the pathway of the great party, that had covered its name with glory, and shed a lustre on this nation, never before known in its national history. By his acts the hopes of our adversaries were rough-hewed into shape. Had he aimed for less, and been contented with sowing poisoned seed in quiet, of which Republicanism might eat and die, the disaffection of the present hour would have been fought two years ago. But he went too far, and so thoroughly disgusted everyone, that a reaction took place, and General Grant was easily elected.

Within the past two years other Andrew Johnsons have floated into existence, and ride upon the topmost wave of notoriety. Others, bearing perhaps a different name, but seeking like him, to advance their own political interests, with an utter disregard of the great mission of the party they assume to be representing. While, it is said, there is no crime so black, but what a knave may find within the pages of Holy Writ, some authority for its commission, there is no political treason so gross but what the traitors may offer an excuse on the ground of principle. It will be remembered that Andrew Johnson, when he became false and treacherous to those who placed him in power, endeavored to conceal his treason by declaring he was pursuing the line of conduct Mr. Lincoln would have followed had he lived. It will not have been forgotten that his conduct was for a long time a source of grave debate as well as of anxiety, and that hundreds of Republicans floated in his wake, endorsed his actions, and condemned those who condemned him. It is hard to find them now, but they had an active existence then. The efforts of the present Andrew Johnsons, however, have been manipulated by wiser heads, and by far more cunning, dexterous hands, than rallied around the old Vice President. They do not turn the attention of the people to their individual selves; they do not remind the world they once were tailors, shoemakers, clerks or laboring men, and have risen to the high position of Vice President or Senator; they direct their attacks against a re-nomination of General Grant, on the ground he cannot be elected. They point out the fact that he stands personally opposed to certain Senators, who wield vast influence. They seem to forget that the argument reflects upon themselves. It pre-supposes that the friends of General Grant are so wedded to Republican principles, that even should he be defeated in the nomination, they will cheerfully vote for his personal enemy, rather than the cause should be defeated, while on the other hand it openly asserts, that should Grant be nominated, the friends of his personal enemies are not sufficiently wedded to Republican principles to support the nominee. This may be true; we hope it is not, but should it be, it shows conclusively of what material the opponents of General Grant are made. The friends of General Grant have no such stuff within them.

These are the Andrew Johnsons of the present day, fomenting strife and discord, perhaps not for the purpose of destroying the party, but with the hope of some personal political aggrandisement. Republican journals all over the land, should unite in the one direct truth, that the principles of the party are above and boyond all individual hero worship, and he who crosses them, should be stricken down as a foe to the best interests of a Republican Government. The people did not authorize Congress to determine who should or should not be nominated in 1872. It is a question outside of their legitimate business, and the country would fare better and the party be more thoroughly united if that legitimate business was better attended to. The nomination is a question for the people in 1872, in despite of Cox, who has drifted into a spasmodic effort in a monthly periodical on "What I Know About Civil Service," or of Schurz who could not be legally elected President, or of Sumner, who does not stand the most remote chance of a nomination, or of Phillips who could not raise the vote of a corporal's guard, as an independent candidate in his own State. The people nominated Grant in 1868, when many of those now trying to injure him were inveighing against him, and if no better reason can be offered than that he cannot be elected, the people will nominate him in 1872, and elect him. It is time that Republican journals were giving proper information to the masses, and not allow them to be poisoned with the misrepresentations made by Democratic and certain reform journals of intestine feuds existing in our ranks.

We assert there are no such feauds existing. Here and there, some irresponsible journal, that has for years rendered a beggarly account of Republicanism, and that probably entered the service of the party because more likely to reap pecuniary benefit therefrom, than where in heart it really belonged, among the Democrats, has not forgotten its itching palm, and is looking around in the vain hope to find evidences of Republican disintegration, that it may return to its first love without pecuniary loss. These journals have tried numberless expedients, and not a few of them endeavored to defeat the party under the cry of reform. Their miserable failures, while it brought no shame to them, aroused vindictiveness, and to-day they are yelping out that the Republican party is divided, broken up, disaffected, and that should General Grant be nominated he can not be elected. The only influence thy exert, if they exert any, is away from home. Where they are known no one has the slightest confidence in their clamor. It has not been forgotten that at the late election they assured the people that the reform ticket would be elected beyond all dispute, and yet not a nominee received sufficient votes to make his nomination creditable. These are the journals self-called reform, that combined with a few politically disappointed men, are bawling their throats sore over the cry of Republican disaffection. None really exists, and all that is required to elect any nominee of the Republican party in 1872 is, that the masses should have these Andrew Johnsons and their beggarly Republican journals pointed out.

OUR FOREIGN CORRESPONDENCE.

LONDON, March 8th, 1871.

DEAR GAZETTE: A tour over the Continent in these days when everybody travels is of little moment, and an account of the historical objects one sees, palaces, paintings, churches, churchyards, castles, wine cellars, etc., would only be a rehash of what nearly every American knows by heart already, or can learn by an investment of a few dollars in one of the guide books, hence we will pass along to some new things which may not be uninteresting to a few of your many readers. I had heard that Antwerp and Bremen took a large quantity of our petroleum, and knowing that a report of the market, the stocks, the talk on change, the feeling, etc., would be just the thing to fill up a page to you, I concluded to see these two cities. I always was, before, proud of my French and German, but now I weep at my ignorance. Still, with the assistance of a little pantomime, I managed to get along after a fashion.

I found the wharves of Antwerp crowded with merchandise of all kinds. There were 50,000 barrels of refined oil being unloaded, which had come in altogether, having been outside blocked up by the ice. I recognized many well-known Pittsburgh brands, among others Citizens, Brilliant, Standard, McKelvey, Fawcett Logan and Stockdale. It was in good order. Pittsburgh oil has a reputation for good cooperage. There must be a big refinery in Cleveland called the Standard. I saw this brand everywhere, both at the ports and in the interior of Germany. I went on change and having a few letters I found the petroleum people, and learned from them the market was dull, because of the large arrivals, the season of the year, the blockade of the railways by the movements of provisions, troops, &c. The stock, including what was unloading, was stated at 75,000 barrels. The feeling here, as well as at Bremen, is that prices will soon improve a little; they expect an advance of 2 to 3 francs. The interior is bare of oil. It is thought the consumption this year will not be largely in excess of that of 1870, or at least will not continue to increase as it has for the past may say to Pittsburghers, "You know how it is yourself." At Bremen I learned nothing new; they echo the same feelings and talk. I was glad to get away from these places, where I could almost smell petroleum in the air, and proceed to Ber- three years; but this is mere conjecture. I lin, a charming city with broad streets, beautiful palaces, magnificent statues, &c. I chanced to drop in there at a most opportune time. March 1st to the 4th was a happy season for the whole Fatherland. The peace illumination came off the evening of the 3d. The streets were thronged with thousands of men, women and children. The palace, the factory, the house of the workingman, were alike one blaze of light. The whole of Berlin, from one end to the other, was one grand illumination. There was a universal determination to leave nothing in darkness.

The arrangement of the gas jets in mottoes, Prusian Eagles, Germanias, Stars, &c., showed much good taste on the part of the decorators, a smile lit up the face of every body, there was a joy on all sides, peace had come, the sacrifices of the last six months were over, victory had crowned the efforts of the honest, earnest Germans, many a brave brother and son had found a last resting place in France, but it was over now, and the whole nation rejoiced that they had a country united, and a prospect for uninterupted quietness for years to come. France, their enemy, laid quivering at their feet. The singing by the multitude, of their war songs, the continued clamor of a foreign tongue, the fairy scene of the brilliantly lit up city the great crowd and jam everywhere, and the excitement of the hour at length wearied me and after having seen the Queen and Crown Princess pass in their unassuming carriages, I took refuge in a quiet saloon and indulged in a glass of Bavarian Beer. GUS.

SCIENTIFIC.

CLEANSING of the skin is the best way to keep off diseases of it, and of the lungs and kidneys.

THE human body, according to Dr. Nichols, in the Journal of Chemistry, contains phosphorus enough for four hundred ordinary two-cent packages of matches, but not quite sulphur enough for them. There is water enough to "drown the individual," or rather, another individual.

BLACK lead pencil drawings, or charcoal drawings may be fixed by a process which involves but little expense or trouble, thus: Prepare a solution in moderate strength of bleached shell-lac in alcohol; wash over the back of the sheet of paper with this, and the drawing on the front will become fixed. In this way, as will be understood, there is no risk of smearing the lines of the drawing.

OPEN an oyster, retain the liquor in the lower or deep shell, and, if viewed through a microscope, it will be found to contain multitudes of small oysters, covered with shells, and nimbly swimming about,—one hundred and twenty of which extend but one inch. Besides these young oysters, the liquor contains a variety of animalcules and myriads of three distinct species of parasites. Sometimes their light represents a bluish star about the centre of the shell, which will be beautifully luminous in a dark room.

THE Siege of Paris will have resulted in at least one good thing, viz., the turning of scientific attention towards the utilization of substances for food. We learn that Prof. M. Decaisne has brought forward a plan for the rapid forcing of cabbages, radishes, and other vegetables, which are to be sown in highly manured land, kept for a fortnight, and used stem and root. Bones, too, are much more utilized than before by the extraction of the osseine by the action of acid, and this is made up into various palatable and nutricious substitutes for butter and jelly.

THE man who wished he had a throat a mile long, and a palate all the way, might envy the feats performed in the world of insignificance. Some insects are endowed with an appetite so keen, and a digestion so rapid, that they eat incessantly throughout the whole of their lives. They begin as soon as they are born, and go steadily on till they die. Their existence is a feast, without a change of plates, or a pause between the courses. Morning, noon and night their mouths are full, and an endless procession of favorite food gratifies the unwearied palate. They know not the names of meals. Breakfast commences with infancy, and their only after-dinner nap is a passage to another state of existence.

A Pot on the Fire.

There is one mode of preparing food in general use in many parts of the Continent which we should do very well more generally to adopt; that is, "gentle simmering." In every or almost every French household there is the pot au feu. This permanent "pot on the fire," after the manner of the old-fashioned "digester," occupies a quiet little corner of the stove or fireplace. It can hardly be said to boil, but it simmers on gently, very gently, for hours. There it is the receptacle of many a little bone, whether the trimmings of poultry or butchers' meat, it matters not, every little stray fragment of wholesome meat finds its way there. A bit of liver is considered an immense improvement; and any vegetables that happen to be about add to its pleasant flavor, whether the tops of celery, Jerusalem artichokes—which, par excellence, make it delicious—or otherwise carrots, turnips, leeks, etc. But supposing it were to be made altogether of fresh materials—which, indeed, in France it rarely is—this would be the proper recipe: Put a gallon of water in a pot; put into this either three or four pounds of shin of beef, or any similar thing. Add to this an onion or two, or some leeks, carrot, or other vegetable, three teaspoonfuls of salt, one of black pepper, three cloves. Give it one boil up; skim carefully. Now cover the pot closely, and let it cook gently, for four hours at the least. About every hour throw a wineglassful of cold water into it, to make it clear. Taste: it may require a little more salt or pepper, according to the taste. Pour this soup over toasted crusts of bread. Both soup and meat will be found delicious. The whole secret of this lies in the gentle simmering in a covered vessel, whereby the flavor is wholly preserved, and nothing is lost. A bullock's head so cooked is excellent.

Visiting the Fishes.

A STRAY MOMENT WITH OUR AQUARIUM.

Dinner over, we repair to the sitting room, where on a pretty stand rests an aquarium, a circular glass vessel about fifteen inches in diameter.

In the centre a grotto, formed of stalactites, sustains at the water's edge a mossy island, on which lizards recline at will, and the small ones do so most of the time, as they fear the rapacious maw of of the ever-wakeful fish. Plants, some growing entirely below the surface of the water, and some rising gracefully above it, serve the double purpose of sustaining life within, and adding grace and beauty to the scene.

With these few words we introduce to you the home of our finny pets.

At the present writing they consist of silver, gold, sun, rock and cat fish, all caught by their possessor, excepting the rock-fish, which succumbed to a hook baited with silver.

A sharp whistle brings them to the side of the aquarium in eager expectancy of a good dinner

Imagine them, in all their brilliancy of color, the gold fish with his red and golden sides glittering in the sunlight with every movement of his body; the little silver fish not so brilliant, but still beautiful, as the ever changing light glances from their lustrous coat of scales; and, before all for beauty, the sun fish, with his crimson-spotted gills, the color and beauty of the rainbow reflected from his lustrous body.

We feed our fish twice a week. A few crumbs of cracker, flies and shreds of meat suffice. Our little friends are growing impatient and seem to be calling for dinner. A crumb of cracker thrown in produces a grand rush from all sides. The sun fish retires, as they prefer a more dainty food, and the gold fish gobbles up the morsel—Napoleon he has been named for his propensity for gobbling up anything that lay around loose. A larger shower of crumbs sets all in motion. See them now, nibbling and pushing at the food, some seizing it from the mouth of a more fortunate neighbor, and then a race around the pond to recapture the prize; some standing on their heads and nosing among the pebbles for a stray morsel, drawing the water into their mouths, separating whatever of food it contains and giving forth the residue in a little cloud Here come the rock-fish! We must not forget them; they are new to us yet, and we hardly feel that we have made their acquaintance—but here they come, swimming like a graceful log, long and narrow, with a full supply of fins, and rounded tail quite unlike their neighbors, who one and all rejoice in the conventional fish tail. When at rest, and with only a portion of their heads visible behind the central rock work, they look like snakes. They keep mostly on the bottom, and as they land so they lie for quiet a while; if head down, all right. Do not fancy they always sluggish, for they can dart through our pond swifter than any of the rest.

A few shreds of meat thrown in create quite a flutter, and our sun fish are not slow to secure the lion's share; friend Snap seems fully alive. Snap is the smaller and most brilliantly marked of the two sun fish, and considers he has a special right to a certain side of the pond, leaving the corpulent Nap to himself, either on the ground that his size alone protects him, or that friend Nap, like his namesake, will some day light upon a young antagonist that will quickly bring him to grief, though he now aspires to rule the lake. How the small fry scatter when he makes at them with his little mouth open, ready to take a bit from their silvery sides.

Snap loves meat, and more than all loves flies, and having devoured all he can lay teeth upon, and chased even his own mate to remote quarters, he is returning through the central grotto, and even now stands at his self appointed place, and seems to say "ready for more dinner."

We take a fly by the wings so as to expose it to his view, and before we get it to the surface of the water he seems to say, "I know what's coming," and if fish chuckle he does, for his little sides quiver with emotion as he prepares to seize the delicate morsel. We hold the fly about half an inch above the water; scarce has it come to rest, when the sharp snap of his little jaws tells us it is securely caught, and the merry twinkle of his little eye says, "ready for still another."—[H., in The Moravian.

A Wag Discourses of Queen Elizabeth.

Here is the latest outbreak of eccentric humor:

Queen Elizabeth is dead. It doesn't make any matter how we got the information. This is none of our fight—this quarrel between the Associated Press and its rival. We've received the news, and that's enough. She died two hundred and sixty-eight years ago the twenty-fourth of last month. She survived until the vital spark had fled, and then she saw it was of no use resisting the inscrutable decree of fate, and so her unfettered soul took its flight into the mysterious void, and settled down in that bourne from which no traveler returns unless he has a mission to jerk chairs around and rap on tables for the benefit of mediums and other long-haired, wild-eyed lunatics.

Queen Elizabeth was a virgin—a vergin' on seventy; and yet the fire gleamed as brightly as ever in her cream colored eye, and the delicate sheen of her finely tinted maroon nose contrasted as forcibly as in her youth with the alabaster of her brow; and the plugs in her teeth were just as valuable as when gold was at 156. She had no small vices. She did not smoke, or chew, or belong to the society for promotion of cruelty to animals. And when she swore, she never descended to the vulgarity of Horace Greeley—Queen Elizabeth didn't. When she used profanity, she gave it with a finish, an elegance, a delicate airy grace, and infused into it a luxurious abandon, and rounded it off carefully at the corners, and dressed it up with well selected poetical adjectives, so that it sounded like a strain from some sweet singer, like some sweet singer straining himself, in fact. And she had red hair.

Her chignon was burglar proof. And often, in the dim twilight of evening, when the sun had sunk to rest, when the Western sky was filled with tender radiance and lambent light, and the bulbul wooed the rose in the back yard, she would play a few notes upon her harpsichord or write a Latin hymn or an essay upon the Harrison boiler. She was supposed to be the author of "Rock Me to Sleep, Mother," and "Beatiful Snow," and "Five o'Clock in the Morning." But nevertheless she was a very estimable woman, and with all her faults we love her still—better, indeed, than if she were still fooling around.

Queen Elizabeth was not proud. She always insisted upon cleaning her own teeth, even if she was a queen; and she always did it once a week, every Sunday morning, with her own tooth brush. What a lesson does it teach to those that are haughty and vain, and belong to the bon ton! She never forgot that she was mere perishable dust, and that the sheep and the silkworm wore her fine clothes long before she got them. She read every Sunday School book that taught these facts, and she once trod on Sir Walter Raleigh's cloak to remind him of them because he was so set up with his new cassimeres. She said upon her deathbed that Lydia Thompson need not learn this lesson, because it had no moral for those who browsed round in Nature's simple garb.

Queen Elizabeth was not sorry to die. She foresaw that George F. Train was coming to England, and she said to her physicians that she would prefer the enduring peace of the cold and silent grave to three weeks of George and the Alabama claims controversy and the Schleswig-Holstein question all at the same time. Her last words were, "kill Horace Greeley before he has a chance to write 'What I Know About Farming.'" There was not a dry eye in that second-story front window. Everybody was thinking how impossible it was to fulfill her dying request, and to escape so much misery.

But she has now gone; she has left us; we shall see her no more. Perhaps it is for the best. She was a vigorous woman, and if she had lived she might have come to America, and we might have given her offence, and she might have pranced around here and flogged us like the very nation. For she was a woman who followed closely in all the prevailing fashions. And so we are glad she is dead, and has four tons of marble planted on her to hold her down.

Rest in peace, old girl! Rest in pieces!

Music Hath Charms.

In Peterboro, N. H., on town meeting day, the cornet band regaled the voters with some excellent playing as they marched up to the polls. The idea is a good one. Music at the polls, says the Nashua Telegraph, will pave the way for that state of things when everybody, dressed in their Sunday best, will make election day the best holiday in the year, and the men and women will assemble in fair halls and listen, as they drop their ballots into the box, to "Hail Columbia," the "Marseillaise," or some sweet Nilsson. Under such a state of affairs, we reckon that unpopular and undeserving candidates will stand a poor chance for election.

WHAT BURNS OFFERS THE PUBLIC.

JAMES E. BURNS & CO., corner Penn and Sixth streets, has one of the most complete drug and perfumery stores in the two cities, and his stock is always fresh and serviceable. He has now in store a full supply of St. Louis Michigan water, Hathom Congress Water, and High Rock Congress Water, together with a superior assortment of fine toilet articles and perfumery in great variety. He has also a very desirable stock of English and Scotch ales and pure liquors for medicinal purposes. Crown Jewels and Golden Drops are only sold by Burns & Co., corner Penn and Sixth streets.

THE PUREST AND SAFEST.

The efficacy of Hostetter's Celebrated Stomach Bitters as a specific for recruiting the enfeebled body and cheering the desponding mind, has passed into a proverb. In the United States, where this marvelous tonic has borne down all opposition, and eclipsed all rivalry, the demand for it has annually increased in a heavier and heavier ratio for years, until, at last, the regular sales of this preparation exceed th se of all other stomachics combined. Eminent members of the medical profession and hospital surgeons without number, have candidly admitted that the pharmacopœia of the faculty contains no prescription that produces such beneficial effects in dyspepsia, general debility and nervous diseases, as Hostetter's Bitters. To use the language of a venerable physician of New York, "The Bitters are the purest stimulant and the safest tonic we have." But the uses of the great vegetable antidote are much more comprehensive than such praise would imply. As a preparatory antidote to epidemic disease, a genial stimulant, a promoter of constitutional vigor, an appetizer, a stomachic, and a remedy for nervous debility, no medicinal preparation has ever attained the reputation of Hostetter's Bitters. It is the household tonic of the American people, and in all human probability will be so for centuries to come. The magnates of science recognize its merits; and that it is emphatically the med cine of the masses, is proven by its vast and ever increasing sales.

GRATES. GRATES.

Keep Your Houses Clean, AND SAVE FUEL, BY USING THE Wellman Patent Reflector STOVE AND GRATE. Which Stand Without a Rival.

The WELLMAN STOVE is furnished with the "REFLECTOR GRATE," and possesses all the advantages of an open fire place; it is specially adapted to houses where the flues are too small to admit a grate, and affords all the comforts of a CHEERFUL OPEN FIRE.

1st. As a radiator of heat it has double the intensity of any other grate.

2d. It is unquestionably the most cleanly—no soot or ashes escaping into the room—which, in the ordinary Grate, proves so detrimental to carpets and furniture.

3d. The combustion is perfect. There is no waste in unburnt cinders—every ounce of the fuel is so completely consumed, that nothing remains but the finest ashes.

4th. As an economizer of fuel—there being an actual saving of at least 25 per cent.

5th. It is highly ornamental.

6th. It is set so deep in the chimney, that it is much safer, and also less liable to puff in windy weather.

7th. A slight motion of the shaker cleanses the entire fire, and causes it to burn with great brilliancy and intensity of heat.

Samples may be seen and references had at the store of W. BARNES, corner of 3d avenue and Market street, Pittsburgh; W. F. GOODWIN, 66 Federal street, Allegheny, or at the FOUNDRY, corner Duquesne Way and Water street, Pittsburgh.

Parties who are building, or who contemplate changing Grates, are respectfully requested to examine "The Wellman." Satisfaction guaranteed in all cases.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD.

A medicine that cures is a real public blessing. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA makes positive cure of a series of complaints, which are always afflicting and too often fatal. It purifies the blood, purges out the lurking humors in the system, which undermine health and settle into troublesome disorders. Eruptions of the skin are the appearance on the surface of humors that should be expelled from the blood. Internal derangements are the determination of these same humors to some internal organ, or organs, whose action they derange and whose substance they disease and destroy. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA expels these humors from the blood. When they are gone, the disorders they produce disappear, such as Ulcerations of the Liver, Stomach, Kidneys, Lungs, Eruptions and Eruptive Diseases of the Skin, St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Pimples, Pustules, Blotches, Boils, Tumors, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, Ulcers and Sores, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Pain in the Bones, Side and Head, Female Weakness, Sterility, Leucorrhœa arising from internal ulceration and uterine disease, Dropsy, Dyspepsia, Emaciation, and General Debility. With their departure health returns.

DR. WHITTIER

CONTINUES TO TREAT ALL PRIVATE DISEASES, Syphilis in all its forms, all urinary diseases, and the effects of mercury are completely eradicated: Spermatorrhea or Seminal Weakness and Impotency, resulting from self-abuse or other causes and which produce some of the following effects as blotches, bodily weakness, indigestion, consumption, aversion to society, unmanliness, dread of future events, loss of memory, indolence, nocturnal emissions, and finally so prostrating the sexual system as to render marriage unsatisfactory and therefore imprudent, are permanently cured. Persons afflicted with these or any other delicate intricate or long standing constitutional complaint should give the Doctor a trial; he never fails.

A particular attention given to all Female complaints, Leucorrhea or Whites, Falling, Inflammation or Ulceration of the Womb, Ovaritis, Pruritis, Amenorrhœa, Menorrhagia, Dysmenorrhœa, and Sterility or Barrenness, are treated with the greatest success.

It is self-evident that a physician who confines himself exclusively to the study of a certain class of diseases and treats thousands of cases every year must acquire greater skill in that specialty than one in general practice.

The Doctor publishes a medical pamphlet of fifty pages that gives a full exposition of venereal and private diseases that can be had free at office or by mail for two stamps, in sealed envelopes. Every sentence contains instruction to the afflicted, and enabling them to determine the precise nature of their complaints.

The establishment, comprising ten ample rooms is central. When it is not convenient to visit the city, the Doctor's opinion can be obtained by giving a written statement of the case, and medicines can be forwarded by mail or express. In some instances, however, a personal examination is absolutely necessary, while in others daily personal attention is required, and for the accommodation of such patients there are apartments connected with the office that are provided with every requisite that is calculated to promote recovery, including medicated vapor baths. All prescriptions are prepared in the Doctor's own laboratory, under his personal supervision. Medical pamphlets at office free, or by mail for two stamps. No matter who have failed, read what he says. Hours 9 A. M. to 8 P. M. Sundays 12 M. to 2 P. M. Office, No. 296 PENN STREET.

PETROLEUM MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, MONDAY, March 27, 1871.

The oil market was again extremely dull to-day, and the advices from abroad do not indicate that there will be any immediate improvement. It seems to be the policy of operators on the creek to sustain the market, if possible, until after the close of the month so as to enable them to adjust their March settlements to the best possible advantage, and but for this there is not much doubt but what Crude would be lower than it is. The advices from the east continue very discouraging. In New York refined is down to a point not before touched this year, and there, as here, there is little or nothing doing. In Philadelphia the situation is no better. In Cleveland the refining interest is fully as much depressed as it is here, and for the same reason.

REFINED.

Continues dull and neglected while prices are entirely nominal. March is nominal at 23⅞@23⅞, while futures are without quotable change.

CRUDE.

Spot and seller March is offering at [illegible] with no buyers; it is probable [illegible] small lots could be sold at 10⅞, but there are at present very few buyers above 10⅞, and not very many even at that. $4.10 is reported as the ruling price on the lower creek for the same deliveries, but there, as here, there are very few buyers.

CATTLE.

In addition to the 47 cars of western cattle there were about 2 loads from the adjacent country, making in all 49 loads or over 800 head; the average quality was fully up if not better than that of last week, while the number was considerably larger. With an improved demand, however, the market was active, which is evident from the fact that the pens were nearly all cleared by 11 o'clock, and that, too, at an advance of from ¼@⅜ of a per pound. Of the 47 cars, on sale, 19 cars were from Chicago, 7 from St. Louis, 4 from Indiana, Ohio and Penna.

As will be seen by reference to the report of sales, prime to extra butcher's stock sold at 7@7⅞. Some few fancy at 8 cts and upwards, but the great proportion of the above grades were sold within the range of quotations. —The New Orleans Bulletin says: Nothing but the damnable taxes people are paying prevents New Orleans from being one of the most prosperous cities on the globe. But for those taxes, which take millions from the people to be spent elsewhere, business could be done cheaper, and therefore there would be more of it; real estate would be richly productive, population would be increasing, and new houses and new stores would be going up in every part of the city.

—Bad for Sioux City. The Journal says: The river landing here does not promise to be very good this season if the spring freshet don't entirely change the channel. The sand bars now opposite the town, unless swept off by the rise will prevent any landing closer than where the Undine now takes on passengers—nearly half a mile below last year's loading place.

The Evansville Journal of yesterday says: "The pilot of the Church reports a boat, probably the Leonidas, on the bank, in the timber below Uniontown, probably having been driven there by the heavy wind of Wednesday night. The Mary Ament damaged one of her engines yesterday, and was compelled to lie over till to-day for repairs."

—The New Orleans Republican of Thursday says: "The United States Marshal of the District has now in this line the following steamers: Belle Tela, Era No. 9, Dora and Colossal, the latter steamer to be sold on the 27th inst. We do not know precisely what other steamers will join the organization, but several are contemplating it."

—The Cincinnati Gazette of Saturday says: At the suit of Andrew J. Marsilliot against the Cincinnati, Pittsburgh & Louisville Pilots' Benevolent Association, Judge Taft, of the Superior Court, yesterday appointed a receiver to take charge of the effects of the association and its members.

—Strong competition goes on between the combination line and independent line, between New Orleans and Shreveport. Cotton, Shreveport to New Orleans, as per card of Captain Boardman, $1 per bale.

—A receiver has been appointed to take charge on the effects of the Cincinnati, Pittsburgh and Louisville Pilots' Association.

—A fire at Vicksburg, yesterday, destroyed three-quarters of a block fronting on the levee, entailing a loss of $40,000.

—The machinery of the Fairy Queen will be disposed of at Marshal's sale, at Jacksonport, Arkansas, on the 1st of April.

—Congress has passed the Senate bill, authorizing the erection of a bridge over the Arkansas river at Little Rock.

FIRST MORTGAGE 7 Per Cent. Gold Bonds, ON A COMPLETED ROAD. (FREE OF U. S. TAX,) At 90 and Accrued Interest in Currency. Burlington, Cedar Rapids & Minnesota Railway. The completion of this Road has given to these Bonds an established character equal to any mortgage issue dealt in at the Stock Exchange. We are prepared to buy and sell them at any time, at our Banking House, at market price—thus placing them on the same basis, for temporary or permanent investment with Governments or any other security. These bonds are a first and only mortgage on a railroad that has cost double the amount of the issue, and which commands, without competition, all the traffic of Northern Iowa and Southern Minnesota—shortening the distance from St. Paul to Chicago 45 miles, and to St. Louis more than 90 miles. The net earnings are already largely in excess of interest on the bonds, and no doubt exists that they will more than double within the ensuing year. A contract has been secured with the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy Railroad Company, obligating the latter to invest 50 per cent. of gross earnings derived from traffic with the Burlington, Cedar Rapids and Minnesota Road in the bonds of this Company. This arrangement is a strong guarantee of the Bonds, and establishes a large sinking fund for their redemption. The convertibility privilege in these Bonds enables them to be exchanged for stock at par at any time. This secures to the holder, at his option, a share of any excess of earnings over the interest obligation. An exchange of Government securities for these Bonds returns 9⅞ per cent. interest, instead of 5 per cent., which is all that Governments pay at present price, besides leaving an immediate gain of 20 per cent. in price for reinvestment. All marketable securities taken in exchange free of commission and express charges. HENRY CLEWS & CO. 32 Wall Street, N. Y. FOR SALE BY S. FINANCIAL. NEW 7-30 GOLD LOAN OF THE Northern Pacific RAILROAD CO. SECURED BY First Mortgage on Railroad and Land Grant. SAFE! PROFITABLE! PERMANENT! JAY COOKE & CO. Offer for sale at par and accrued interest the First Mortgage Land Grant Gold Bonds of the Northern Pacific Railroad Company. They are free from United States Tax, and are issued of the following denominations: Coupons $100, $500, and $1,000; Registered $100, $500, $1,000 $5,000 and $10,000.

With the same entire confidence with which we commended Government bonds to Capitalists and People, we now, after the fullest investigation recommend these Northern Pacific Railroad bonds to our friends and the general public.

GOLD PAYMENT—Both principal and interest are payable in American gold coin, at the office of Jay Cooke & Co., New York City—the principal at the end of 30 years, and the interest (at the rate of seven and three-tenths per cent. per annum) half-yearly, first of January and July.

PERFECT SAFETY.—The bonds we are now selling are secured by a first and only mortgage on all the property and rights of the Northern Pacific Railroad Company, which will embrace on the completion of the work:

1. Over Two Thousand Miles of Road, with rolling stock, buildings, and all other equipments.

2. Over Twenty-two Thousand Acres of Land to every mile of finished road. This land, agricultural, timbered and mineral, amounting in all to more than Fifty Million Acres, consists of alternate sections, reaching twenty to forty miles on each side of the track, and extending in a broad fertile belt from Wisconsin through the richest portions of Minnesota, Dakota, Montana, Idaho, Oregon and Washington, to Puget Sound.

While the Government does not directly guarantee the bonds of the Road, it thus amply provides for their full and prompt payment by an unreserved grant of land, the most valuable ever conferred upon the great national improvement.

THE MORTGAGE.—The Trustees under the Mortgage, are Messrs. Jay Cooke, of Philadelphia and J. Edgar Thomson, President of the Pennsylvania Central Railroad Company. They will directly and permanently represent the interests of the First Mortgage bond holders, and are required to see that the proceeds of land sales are used in purchasing and cancelling the bonds of the Company if they can be bought before maturity at not more than 10 per cent. premium; otherwise the Trustees are to invest the proceeds of land sales in United States Bonds or Real Estate Mortgages for the further security of Northern Pacific bondholders. Also, that they have at all times in their control, as security, 500 acres of average land to every $1,000 of outstanding first mortgage bonds besides the railroad itself and all its equipments and franchises.

PROFITABLENESS.—Of course nothing can be safer than the bonds of the United States, but as the Government is no longer a borrower, and as the Nation's present work is not that of preserving its existence, but that of DEVELOPING A CONTINENT, we remind those who desire to increase their income and obtain a more permanent investment, while still having a perfectly reliable security that

United States 5-20's at their average premium yield the present purchaser less than 5⅞ per cent. gold interest. Should they be redeemed in five years, and specie payments be resumed, they would really pay only 4⅞ per cent., or if in three years only 3⅞ per cent., as the present premium would meanwhile be sunk.

Northern Pacific 7-30's selling at par in currency yield the investor 7 3-10 per cent. gold interest absolutely for thirty years, free from United States tax. $1,100 currency invested now in United States 5-20's will yield per year in gold, say $62.00. $1,100 currency invested in Northern Pacific 7-30's will yield per year in gold, $80.30. Here is a difference in annual income of nearly one-third, besides a difference of 7 to 10 per cent. in principal, when both classes of bonds are redeemed.

THE ROAD NOW BUILDING.—Work was begun in July last on the eastern portion of the line, and the money provided, by the sale to stockholders of some six millions of the Company's bonds, to build and equip the road from Lake Superior across Minnesota to the Red River of the North—233 miles. The grading on this division is now well advanced, the iron is being rapidly laid; several thousand men are at work on the line, and about the first of August next this important section of the road will be in full operation. In the meantime orders have been sent to the Pacific coast for the commencement of the work on the western end in early Spring, and thereafter the work will be pushed, both eastward and westward, with as much speed as may be consistent with solidity and a wise economy.

RECEIVABLE FOR LANDS.—These bonds will be at all times, before maturity, receivable, at 1-10, in payment for the Company's lands, at their lowest cash price.

BONDS EXCHANGEABLE.—The registered bonds can be exchanged at any time for coupons, the coupons for registered, and both these can be exchanged for others, payable, principle and interest, at any of the financial centres of Europe, in the coin of the various European countries.

HOW TO GET THEM.—Your nearest Bank or Banker will supply these bonds in any desired amount, and of any needed denomination. Persons wishing to exchange stocks or other bonds for these, can do so with any of our agents, who will allow the highest current price for all marketable securities.

Those living in localities remote from banks, may send money, or other bonds, directly to us by express, and we will send back Northern Pacific bonds at our own risk, and without cost to the investor. For further information, pamphlets, maps, etc., call on or address the undersigned, or any of the Banks or Bankers employed to sell this loan. For sale by

HOME NEWS.

Allegheny Disorderlies.—Bridget Allcock and James Murdock came before Mayor Callow, of Allegheny yesterday and staid long enough to receive a sentence of thirty days in jail each, for disorderly conduct.

Personal.—Our young friend, Harry McGregor, for some time an attache of the Allegheny Postoffice Department, has left that service, and is now engaged with Mr. Henry Pratt, hatter, on Federal street, which is a loss to Uncle Sam and considerable of a gain to Mr. Pratt.

Distribution of Bread.—The poor of the city, will have distributed to them two-thousand loaves of bread, by Wm. Haslage & Co. at their New Store, No. 18 Diamond on this and to-morrow morning. Such generosity should be appreciated by those in whose interests the benefaction is provided.

Collision.—Yesterday morning as car No. 37, Manchester road, was coming down the grade on Federal street, the wheels commenced to slide on the track, and the horses were thus urged forward. The result was a collision with a wagon at the railroad crossing by which one of the horses was very badly injured.

Gas Explosion.—On Sunday morning a leak was found at No. 57 Second avenue, where the gas pipe had been recently laid. Some persons were trying the burners to ascertain where the leak was, when an explosion resulted by which Samuel Watkins and Wm. Story were somewhat injured. A combustible shock took place, and the room, as well as occupants, were somewhat injured.

A Window Breaker.—Frank McLaughlin, when small had a mania for breaking things, on Saturday night last, he came home drunk, and went for the windows of the house where he lived and made himself exceedingly disagreeable. The man of the house made a complaint against him and in addition to a charge for disorderly conduct he will have to answer for damage don to his premises.

Not the Man.—It was James not Lawrence Sloan, who was arrested on the Suspension bridge on Friday last. The latter, is a very industrious and worthy young man, and we are sorry that through some unaccountable mistake, his name has became mixed up in the affair. This correction would not be necessary to those who know him, as his character is far above a suspision of any kind.

Other Sinners.—Michael Roney made himself conspicuous and disagreeable all day Sunday, in spite of the rain, by his deriding behaviour, insulting all passers-by with gross language and worse behaviour, until the police took him in hand. Thomas Carvin, who imitated his predecessor in another part of the city, will have an opportunity of learning good behavior under the direction of the Work House authorities.

Violation of Revenue Law.—Yesterday morning a saloon keeper on Smithfield street, had a visit from the officers of the Internal Revenue law. He had the misfortune to have a half barrel of wine confiscated. It appears that information had come to headquarters that the saloon keeper had been using kegs and barrels more than once, without canceling the revenue stamps thereon, as required by law. The wine was seized and its owner will have a hearing.

Railroad Casualty.—Yesterday morning Samuel McFarland, who is a brakeman on the Allegheny Valley Railroad, had the misfortune to meet with an accident in the yard of the road near Boundary street. He was sitting on the front of the engine, but fell off. Singularly enough, the engine passed on without hurting him, but he was caught by the tender and his leg so badly smashed that amputation will be necessary. He resides on Rebecca street, Allegheny, whether he was taken and attended by Dr. Hazlett.

Needs Attention.—There is a gas lamp recently erected on the side of the hill above Beaver street, Allegheny, which seems to be strangely neglected. It has nominally been placed there for convenience, a purpose which the attendant carries out by lighting, one evening and allowing it to burn until the next, when darkness, generally for several successive evenings, takes the place of the former illumination. A little attention to the matter would be considered as a favor by residents on the hill district.

Found Dead.—The body of an infant aged six weeks, the child of Mr. Wm. Wharton was found dead in bed this morning. The father went to his work as usual and the mother after attending to her early household affairs, about eight o'clock went to see the child, when she found it dead. Coroner West was duly notified and held an inquest in the afternoon. Dr. Kearns was called in and pronounced that the child had died from congestion of the brain. A verdict was rendered accordingly.

Too Anxious for their Sunday Bitters.—Wm. May and John Campbell, not having recovered from the effects of their previous night's debauch, and feeling a strong inclination for the "hair of the dog which bit them," being unable to find any saloon keeper so unmindful of law as to keep open on Sunday, took the liberty of forcing their way into Schmidt's saloon and demanding drinks. An officer was called, and they were put out. They then, indignant at their ejection, began a system of stone and brick throwing, which resulted in an arrest and in thirty days each at the Work-house.

The Young Men's Christian Temperance Association, holding its meetings at the "Home," Duquesne Way, will be addressed at 7:30 o'clock to-night by Miss Matilda Hindman, whose lectures before the same society on previous occasions have given such general satisfaction. Considerable interest is now being manifested in our city with regard to the liquor traffic and the license question, and we have no doubt that the speaker will touch on these points to-night. There should be a crowded house. Free admission and no collection. Ladies, for whom seats are reserved, invited, as well as the community generally.

Morris & Co., corner Fourth avenue and Wood street general agents for the Aldine Magazine, in Western Pennsylvania, Eastern Ohio and West Virginia begin to-day to canvass their district. Each subscriber besides receiving the Aldine, which is without doubt the most beautiful specimen of typography and wood engravings produced in America, is entitled to a copy of the favorite chromo of The Ducklings. The Aldine, besides being a true art journal is a capital magazine of general literature, always containing original articles of worth and general interest; the April number, for instance, contains a new autobiography by Mark Twain, a racy production by Junius Henri Browne, a poem and a tale by Harriet Prescott Spofford and other matters. Not the least attractive features each month is the comic cartoon on the cover, by Beard the famous artist.

Attempted Burglary.

Between eight and nine o'clock last night some thieves tried to break into the music store of Messrs. Hammer & Toerge, on Seventh avenue. They had broke a piece out of the door and one of the panes of glass out of the front window, when they were probably frightened off by the approach of some one on the street. Officer Little, who is on that beat, kept a diligent outlook during the night but was unable to see any suspicious looking persons about the neighborhood.

A Faithless Partner.

An information was made before Alderman McMasters yesterday by Thomas Smith, charging Charles O'Brien with larceny. It appears from the allegation of the prosecutor that he and the defendant had bought a horse and cart in partnership, and that they were to do general hauling and divide the profits equally between them. Instead, however, of the accused doing this, he collected all that was coming to the firm and appropriated it his own use and benefit, and in addition made way with about eight dollars' worth of property belonging to the firm. Held for a hearing.

Mortuary Report.

The following are the deaths for the week ending March 26th, as reported by J. Guy McCandless, Health Physician:

Males, 15; females, 16; white, 30; colored, 1; total, 31.

Before Alderman Irwin.

Yesterday Michael Geyer was brought before Alderman Irwin, of Allegheny, and fined $50 and costs for selling liquor on Sunday. The money was paid over immediately to the Directors of the Poor.

George Hughes, made a statement to the effect that he had purchased and paid for a lot of iron from Joseph Redman; that while he was gone to fetch a wagon to haul it away, Redman sold the lot to another man, for a higer price and then wanted to refund his (Hughes) money. He embodied his statement in an information for larceny upon which a warrant was issued.

McKeesport Fire.

The residence of Mr. James O'Neil at McKeesport had a narrow escape from being burnt down on Sunday evening. The family had been to church, and after their return Mr. O'Neil sent his little son up stairs to a wardrobe to get a pair of slippers. It appears that while getting them the light which he carried communicated to some clothing. This was not discovered, however, and the wardrobe was closed. About an hour afterward the members of the family were alarmed by the dense smoke which filled the house, and on entering the room where the boy had been they found that the wardrobe was on fire, and that the flames had communicated to some articles in the room. After considerable trouble the fire was extinguished, but not until the contents of the room were almost entirely destroyed. Mr. O'Neil, while attempting to subdue the flames, had his hands burned severely. The loss will be comparatively small.

Sacred Concert.

The Choir of the Christ Methodist Episcopal Church will give a grand Sacred Concert in the Bellefield Church, Oakland, this evening, for the benefit of the Bellefield Union Sabbath School. There are few in these cities who do not know Mr. Alexander, the leader of the choir, as one of the most accomplished vocalists we have. He can conduct a train or a concert as well as any one we know. He is master of the situation in either capacity. The music will be excellent. But the object is good. The proceeds will be appropriated to the benefit of the Bellefield Union Sabbath School, which, with an excellent corps of teachers and under the best management, is now in a flourishing condition and doing a good work in the moral training of the young. The concert and its object are a double attraction, and we hope there will be a crowded house to-night. Tickets of admission, which can be obtained at the door, only fifty cents each. Let the concert be well patronized and the good cause encouraged.

UNFINISHED BUSINESS.

A resolution authorizing the payment of the bill of S. McKee for $25 69. In C. C. March 13, 1871; read three times and passed March 27. Select Council concurred in action of C. C.

THE TWENTY-FIRST WARD MARKET HOUSE.

An act incorporating the Twenty-first ward market association. Passed in C. C., March 13th.

Mr. Rafferty called for the reading of the act providing for the incorporation of the Twenty-first ward market company, which was reported among the unfinished business of the Common Council.

The proposed bill was read whereupon Mr. Aiken objected to its passage inasmuch as the Market Committee were about to report on a similar subject. He was not opposed to the provisions of the bill but thought it could not suffer from postponement.

Mr. Burgwin was in favor of the idea of building market houses by private enterprise, but yet the bill should be well considered before its final passage. There were features about which should be more thoroughly understood.

Mr. Isaac Jones said that there should be no good reason for delay in action. The bill provided that after the investors had received a return of their original investments, with the stipulated interest thereon, the property shall pass into the ownership of the city. Regarding the site, he stated that through a connection with a certain bank he had learned that there was a mortgage on a square of property in the Twenty-first ward, which the bank promised to cancel for the property holder on the implied pledge that he should gratuitously donate it to the city for a market house site.

Mr. Littell thought the city was called upon to invest too much of its money in new market houses, and was putting out too many bonds bearing interest for such purposes. The Market Committee has thoroughly investigated the provisions of the bill, and were of opinion that the new market house should be built by private enterprise, especially as such a magnificent offer had been made by the projectors. Certainly the city should not reject the ground which was offered to it free, and the market buildings would be erected at private cost, and soon come into the possession of the city at no cost whatever.

Mr. McCarthy thought it was the duty of Councils to rigidly inquire into all pertaining to the bill, and to act without haste in its disposition. There was no need for precipitancy of action, and Councils should await the coming report from the Market Committee before finally adopting the bill.

Mr. Edwards and others spoke in favor of the bill, after which the motion to postpone action upon it was lost, and the bill was placed on its third reading. It passed finally.

An ordinance providing for making connections with gas and water mains. Read three times and passed.

COMMERCIAL TRAVELERS.

An ordinance providing for the sale of goods by sample; in S. C., March 13, 1871, read twice.

The ordinance imposing a license tax on commercial travelers who enter the city and peddle their wares was next taken up and elicited quite an animated debate.

Mr. Burgwin was of the opinion that the matter was one of too great importance to be passed upon hastily or without due judgment. It was a subject of much interest to merchants, dealers and manufacturers, and their advice should be sought and obtained before definite action was taken. He would, therefore, move that the whole subject be referred to a special committee of two members from the Select and three from the Common branch of Councils.

Mr. E. P. Jones thought such reference the most satisfactory way of dealing with the questions involved. He had heard a variety of opinions expressed for and against the ordinance.

Mr. Lauffman spoke earnestly in favor of the ordinance. It is a notorious fact that the trade interests of our merchants and manufacturers suffer greatly from the agents of houses from abroad, who come hither without even a satchel, carrying their samples in their pockets and hawking them around as common peddlers. Knowing the feeling of business men on the subject, he was willing to trust the ordinance to a special committee, and would vote for such reference.

After further debate, the ordinance was referred to a special committee, on which Messrs. Lauffman and Burgwin were appointed from Select Council by the chair.

NEW BUSINESS.

Mr. S J. Wainwright presented the following resolution.

Resolved,—That the committee on city property be hereby authorized to have the fence around what is known as the Lawrenceville village grave yard be repaired forthwith. Read three times and passed.

He stated that the map would prove of great value as it had been prepared with much care by the engineers of the Water Commission.

The rules were suspended and the resolution was finally adopted.

Mr. Murdoch, from Committee on Wooden Buildings offered an ordinance authorizing the erection of certain iron clads. Read three times and passed.

Mr. Shipton stated that the above report was that of a minority of his committee, a majority not having been present at the last meeting

Mr. Isaac Jones moved that it be referred back to the Committee on Gas Lighting.

The chair stated that as it was not in reality a report of the Committee no action could be taken.

Mr. E. P. Jones, from the Road Committee, presented the following report:

The Clerk commenced the reading of the minutes, and had proceeded about half way through, when

Mr. McKelvy said as each member had the "Municipal Record," it was useless to read the minutes, and he therefore moved to dispense with the same.

The Clerk suggested that they would have to be read and approved some time.

Mr. Snodgrass objected to the motion.

Mr. Cohen seconded it.

The question was put and lost, and the minutes were then read to the close and approved.

Resolved, That the City Solicitor be and he is hereby instructed to take such steps as he may deem advisable to receive the amount thus over paid by the city.

Mr. Morgan, after reading the paper, moved its final adoption.

Mr. Cohen moved to strike out the clause "in ignorance of its rights."

Mr. Morgan hoped that it would be allowed to remain. If the city acknowledged having paid the bill knowingly, they might have difficulty to recover.

The City Solicitor being called upon, said that it would make no difference, as it was a matter for the Courts to decide.

The paper was then finally adopted as read.

FIRE COMMISSION REPORT.

Mr. Morgan also presented the annual report of the Fire Commission and moved that five hundred copies be printed under the direction of the Commission, in pamphlet form, and the cost taken out of their appropriation. Carried.

The following is a recapitulation of the report:

The Commission preface their report to Councils with the following remarks: The propriety of changing the locations of some of the companies was early apparent to the Commission. We are certain that the necessary changes could be made without additional cost to the city, as the proceeds from the sale of property on business streets, in the heart of the city, occupied by companies, would be amply sufficient for the purchase of lots and cost of new buildings in other locations. The necessity for such changes we hope may be so apparent to your honorable bodies as to induce you to pass an ordinance conferring on the Commission power to make such changes.

The expenditures of the Commission may seem large for the maintenance of the department, but it must be considered in this connection that the expenditures for apparatus, &c., were extraordinary ones, and will not for some years again be a drain on this fund.

The services and deportment of the employees of the department have been such as to receive our hearty commendation.

Following is a recapitulation of the Secretary's report:

Mr. Cohen—He's not on the Commission.

Mr. McCandless—I don't think it's proper to compliment a paid city official. He has to do any work Councils may direct, and it's not necessary to compliment him for doing it to the best of his ability.

Mr. Snodgrass then withdrew his amendment.

Spring Dry Goods at Wholesale.

Messrs. Arbuthnot, Shannon & Co., 115 Wood street, have received a large stock of spring dry goods, notions, &c., in every variety, which they are prepared to sell at a lower price than the same quality of goods has been offered at in this city for nine years. As is well known, this A No. 1 house is one of the oldest and most substantial, and stands at the head of the trade in this city. They buy all their goods for cash, and as they purchase in large quantities from the most extensive importing houses and manufactories in the country, they can sell goods on even better terms than retail merchants, either in the city or country, can buy them in the eastern market. The goods have all been purchased, after the most careful personal inspection, by the members of the firm, and their acknowledged experience and taste is a sufficient guarantee that they are of the best and most serviceable fabrics. The stock embraces everything in the dry goods line that is needed for the city and country trade, and is being replenished every day by fresh arrivals. The gentlemen who compose the firm of Arbuthnot, Shannon & Co. are so much opposed to what might be termed "puffing," or anything that approaches it, that we are unwilling to say all we would wish to say about them and their goods. But nothing is necessary to be said by us. Their commercial integrity is so well known, and the character of their house so well established, that no fulsome commendation is required at our hands. All that is necessary is to announce that their spring stock is already large, and is being daily increased, and that they will sell it at a lower price than they have done since the war commenced. Some of the leading articles of their stock are enumerated in an advertisement in another column, to which we direct the attention of our readers, and assure them that they will find the goods to be just what they represent them to be. Goods sold only at wholesale.

A New Propellor.

Another new iron propellor has just been launched from the yards of Messrs. Wm. Douglas & Son, at the southern end of the Smithfield street bridge. The boat, which is of iron, is intended for harbor and coal towing at Baton Rouge, Louisana, and was contracted for by its present owners, Messrs. Packer & Peterson, of this city, and was made ready for launching in exactly three months from the time of setting the first streak of iron. The propellor has been named the "Belle of Baton Rouge," and the dimensions of it are as follows: On deck 65 feet in length; breadth of beam, 15 feet; depth of hold, 8½ feet; 18 by 18 inch cylinders; diameter of propeller, 6 feet; one boiler, 16 feet long, 5 feet in diameter and 6 flues. The boat will receive the finishing to the cabin, and if there is sufficient water, will depart for Baton Rouge early next week.

Messrs. Douglas commenced work this morning on another iron boat, for Messrs. W. H. Brown, Jones and others. This boat is to be eighty feet in length. Messrs. Horner, Wood & Co., are about contracting for an iron propellor, but the specifications are not yet prepared. Captain Joseph Elliott is the superintendent for the erection of these boats.

Public Speakers and Singers will find "Brown's Bronchial Troches" beneficial in clearing the voice before speaking or singing, and relieving the throat after any unusual exertion of the vocal organs, having a peculiar adaption to affections which disturb the organs of speech. For coughs and Colds the Troches are effectual.

FIRE MARSHAL'S REPORT.

Interesting Annual Report of Fire Marshal Joseph A. Butler—Statistics Furnished—Satisfactory Working of the Paid Fire Department—Important Suggestions, &c.

Yesterday morning we foreshadowed a few of the more important items of interest contained in the annual report of our able and efficient County Fire Marshal, Joseph A. Butler, Esq., which was presented to the Judges of the Court of Common Pleas in the afternoon, and which was as follows:

OFFICE OF THE FIRE MARSHAL OF ALLEGHENY COUNTY, PITTSBURGH, March 27, 1871.

To the Honorable the Judges of the Court of Common Pleas:

In pursuance of the Act of Assembly creating the office of Fire Marshal for the county of Allegheny, passed April 18, 1864, I have the honor to submit herewith my annual report:

NUMBER OF FIRES AND ALARMS.

During the year ending March 25, 1871, sixteen false alarms of fire were created.

Two hundred and ninety-six fires occurred, whereat property in buildings, fixtures therein and merchandise were destroyed.

THE DESTRUCTION OF PROPERTY—LOSS AND INSURANCE.

The destruction was not in all cases total; the insurance on that portion which was destroyed and on that which was saved, amounted to $1,418,782 92. The total value of that portion which was destroyed, was $1,350,477 03, on which there was insurance to the amount of $661,299 41 that has been paid; and a further insurance of $24,000 that is not yet adjusted. There was also insurance to the amount of $1,380 50 additional to that mentioned, which was lost to the party assured by reason of the insolvency of the company that undertook the risk.

The following summary embraces a detail of the sums that constitute the amounts before alluded to.

	Loss.	Insurance.
Oil and oil refineries	$437,680 14	$ 149,743 04
Glass and factories	11,999 91	11,999 91
Iron works	243,105 42	98,439 54
Stores and merchandise	109,567 70	75,641 97
Dwellings	136,000 55	94,701 33
Saw, planing and grist mills	233,083 00	119,943 92
School and church buildings	2,600 00	1,200 00
Sharpsburgh bridge	40,030 00	35,000 00
Miscellaneous	135,690 31	75,129 64

Total lost	$1,350,477 03
Total insured and paid	$661,299 41, 49	pr. ct.
Insured and unadjusted	24,000 00, 1 8-10	"
Uninsured and lost	663,793 12, 49 2-10	"
Insured and lost	1,384 50

Of the property that was either totally or partially destroyed, twenty-nine were oil establishments, four planing and saw mills, two grist mills, one glass works, two churches, two school-houses (East Liberty and Allentown).

COMPARISON OF LOSSES AND INSURANCE paid in seven years:

	Gross loss.	Insur'ce.	Percentage p'd.
1865 (7 months)	$266,128	$126,481	47½
1866	741,225	336,014	45
1867	868,150	500,582	57½
1868	815,559	311,234	38
1869	625,842	385,405	61½
1870	842,564	433,092	51½
1871	1,349,727	684,799	50 8-10

The totals for 1871 were largely increased by the great fire at the Sharpsburg bridge. The loss on that occasion, including oil refineries, oil and bridge, was $446,05.14, on which insurance was paid to the amount of $175,276.63.

LIVES LOST AND PERSONS INJURED.

Captain James Charlton, of the Walton Hose Company, East Birmingham, was killed by a falling chimney at a fire which consumed two dwellings on the Brownsville road, South Pittsburgh. He was a very efficient fireman, in whose sad death the Fire Department with which he was connected sustained a much lamented loss. James Kelly was badly injured at the same fire.

A steamboatman from Elizabethtown, a spectator at the burning of the Variety works, Diamond street, Pittsburgh, was killed by a falling wall.

Six persons were burned to death. One of them was the lamented Henry B. Foster, at the Eclipse oil refinery, Sharpsburg bridge; one, an aged lady, at a slight fire caused by a lamp explosion at a dwelling on Second avenue; two children at the burning of a dwelling in McClure township; another child at the burning of a dwelling at Mansfield. Another child at a dwelling in Manchester was slightly burned by the careless use of oil in kindling a stove.

Three children were badly injured, two at the fire which burned the old lady before mentioned on Second avenue; the other was badly burned at a slight fire that was occasioned by allowing the children to carry a lighted candle. Several persons sustained injuries of minor consequence from various causes connected with fire.

FAMILIES RENDERED HOUSELESS.

By the calamitous fire that occurred at South Pittsburgh on the Seventh of February, twenty-eight poor families were rendered houseless. Charitable aid, amounting to over $800, chiefly contributed by John W. Pittock, Fred Almes, Major Burnell, John Elias and others, was proportionately distributed amongst the sufferers.

INCENDIARISM.

Five persons were arrested and tried for the crime of arson; two of them, on very strong circumstancial evidence that was ably presented to the jury by W. D. Moore, Esq., counsel for the commonwealth, were acquitted. The other three were boys—culprits at the House of Refuge, who set fire to that building and were convicted of the offense. They were remanded to the Refuge to expiate their crime at the will of the management of that institution, subject to the discretion of the Court. Two other persons were arrested, and on a careful investigation by the Fire Marshal were acquitted.

THE FIRE DEPARTMENTS.

The Paid Fire Departments of Pittsburgh and Allegheny, and the volunteer organizations of Birmingham and East Birmingham, are each most praiseworthy and effectively managed. The discipline and ability to concentrate effort upon the shortest notice that characterizes the working operations of the paid fire departments abundantly attests the superiority of that system as a means of checking the ravages of fire and consequent saving in the destruction of property.

Notwithstanding the success that already has been achieved in promoting the security of property, no effort that can be conceived is spared in devising means that will further increase its safety.

A FIRE PATROL RECOMMENDED.

An act of assembly to incorporate a fire patrol, to take charge of, protect and secure property from injury and theft, is now before the Legislature and will doubtless be passed at an early day. I respectfully recommend that the act be adopted and the patrol organized as soon as possible thereafter, fully confident that great public benefit will result from its operations in the event of fires and the consequent removal of property.

Several recommendations were made by my predecessor in his annual report for 1870, viz:

THE INSPECTION OF FLUES, ETC.

First—That the law governing the Fire Marshal be amended so as to give him authority to supervise the condition of fire places, stoves, chimneys, pipes, &c., and fixtures connected therewith, and, if need be, to compel a compliance with any suggestion that he may deem it proper to make. The amendment has been passed, and it gives me pleasure to state that it meets with the hearty approval of all parties, wherever its provisions have been called into requisition. Seventeen important actions were instituted in consequence of it.

DEPUTY MARSHALS.

Second—"That the fire-marshal be authorized to appoint deputies." The amendment provides that thirty may be appointed within the county limits.

AN APPARATUS NEEDED IN MCKEESPORT.

Third—"That the borough authorities of McKeesport provide themselves with suitable apparatus for extinguishing fires." It is to be regretted that they have not taken action in the matter. The growing importance of their sprightly town and its rapidly increasing wealth and risk to property should admonish its people of the wisdom of making some provision against the casualty of fire before it is too late to avert a serious calamity that may befall them. The Fire-Marshal again urges the importance of their giving the matter consideration.

THE TIME FOR MAKING ANNUAL REPORT.

Fourth—That the act aforesaid should be amended so as to extend the time fixed for making the annual report, namely: from the fourth Monday of March to the Fourth Monday in April, in order that this computation should include the month of March in full, and allow sufficient time to adjust his accounts. The amendment is now before the Legislature and it is hoped will be passed.

SOUTH PITTSBURGH'S PROPOSED APPARATUS.

South Pittsburgh has, with commendable zeal for the public welfare, undertaken to organize a fire department, and will, I believe, soon have it in effective operation.

FREQUENCY OF FIRES FROM CARELESSNESS, SPONTANEOUS COMBUSTION, ETC.

I here take occasion to advert to the frequency of fires from carelessness, spontaneous combustion, hot machinery, journals and boxes. In three instances recently hot journals were believed to be the cause of fires that involved the loss of more than a quarter million of dollars. Spontaneous combustion and hot journals are quite likely to occur when ordinary precaution is off its guard. All concerned should be vigilant in anticipation of such causes.

CONCLUSION.

Much friendly recognition and courtesy has been extended to me in my official relations with the community at large, by whom every desired assistance and facility has been afforded me in the effort to promote the greatest measure of public good. To my worthy and highly esteemed predecessor, Capt. Geo. W. Murphy, the accomplished and efficient ex-Fire Marshal, I am under especial and grateful obligations for official courtesies that have largely promoted the public interests committed to my charge. To John H. McElroy, late Chief Engineer, and W. J. White, Assistant Engineer of Pittsburgh Fire Department; James E. Crow, Chief Engineer of the Allegheny Fire Department; Samuel T. Paisley, Superintendent of the Pittsburgh Fire Alarm Telegraph; Captain James Conway, of the Mechanics Hose Company, Birmingham, and Captain John B. Jones, of the Walton Hose Company, East Birmingham, I am greatly indebted for friendly co-operation that has of course that has given me a high appreciation of the earnestness and zeal with which they devote themselves to the public welfare.

My deputies, James E. Crow, Esq., Samuel T. Paisley, Esq, Geo. W. Murphy, Esq., Capt. James Conway and Capt. J. B. Jones will please accept my thanks for meritorious services rendered in their official relations to me.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

JOSEPH A. BUTLER,
Fire Marshal of Allegheny county.

The report was highly satisfactory in its character and developed the fact that Marshal Butler attended to his duties well and faithfully during the past year. His re-appointment which was readily confirmed by the Court, was a just recognition of the fidelity with which he performed his services.

Death of Prof. T. E. Suliot.

On last Thursday evening calmly, quietly and with but little warning passed away from earth to eternity all that was immortal of Prof. T. E. Suliot of the faculty of Avery College, Allegheny, and an educator who enjoyed almost a national reputation. Hardly a fortnight has elapsed since in these columns we recorded the golden words of truth and eloquence he uttered the evening previous, in addressing a meeting of the friends of the College in the prosperity and usefulness of which he was so deeply interested. Little then did those upon whose ears fell the words of advice from the veteran teacher, who listened to the outpourings of his heart in lavish affection for the school in whose destiny he had so long interested himself, imagine that they heard the almost last dying words of a true friend, a sincere patron and earnest Christian worker in the cause of universal education. Prof. Suliot had attained a ripe old age, and had spent over half a century of his life as an educator. He was a gentleman of large literary attainments, liberal ideas and generous impulses, and his loss will be deeply mourned by his scholars and associates in the faculty of Avery College.

SPRING GOODS.

Daily Arriving at William Semple's, Nos. 180 and 182 Federal Street, Allegheny.

The spring trade has opened lively in our sister city, and of course the extensive whole sale and retail dry goods establishment of Mr. William Semple, Nos. 180 and 182 Federal street is doing its customary share of business. Although the firm is about arranging for the occupancy of the elegant and palatial stone edifice nearly opposite to the present store rooms, which has just been completed, expressly for the accommodation of the large patronage directed towards the house, still it must not be thought that any old goods are to be disposed of at special sale previous to the contemplated removal. Daily by rail and express large invoices of fresh and seasonable goods are received direct from manufacturers and importers, and hence no where else can a better or fresher stock be found from which to make judicious and advantageous selections. The ordinary business done daily at this establishment prevents accumulation of old stock, and as a consequence nothing is ever found upon the counters and shelvings but fresh, new, desirable, attractive and seasonable goods. In order that our friends may judge of the superior inducements offered this spring in new goods. We make a few quotations as follows:

Spring Shawls, real bargains, $2.00.
At $1.87½, Cheney Brothers' Gros Grain Black Silks.
At $8.50, Japanese Silk Robes.
At 75c, Japanese Silks.
At $1.25, Gros Grain Black Silks.
At $1.50, Gros Grain Black Silks, extra wide.
At 12½c, Wash Poplins.
At 18¾c, Black and White Serge Plaids.
At 25c, Black and Colored Corded Poplins, Spring Colors.
At 23 and 37½c, Alpaca Plaids, extra wide.
At 25c, Japanese Cloths for suits.
At 6¼c, Fast Colored Calicoes.
At 10c, the best makes of Calicoes.
At 12½c, Yard Wide Shirting, extra good.
At 50c, 10-4 White Twilled Sheeting.
10c Ladies Cotton Hose.
12½c, Gents' Cotton Socks, heavy double heels.
75c, Gents' Colored Kid Gloves.
$1.25, Ladies' Real Kid Gloves—an extra bargain.
$1, Ladies' White Embroidered Skirts.
$1.25, Ladies White Woven Skirts.
$1, Black and White Balmoral Skirts worth $2.
75c, Ladies' Gored Skirts.
At 12½c, Linen Shirt Fronts.
At 3c, Ladies' Lawn Handkerchiefs.
At 12½c, New Spring Delaines.

But we might go on with quotations illustrating the very reasonable prices which prevail throughout all the various departments, for new Dress Goods, Cassimeres, Jeans, Scotch Ginghams, Percales, Chintzes, White P. K's, Nainsooks, Ribbons, Flowers, Hats, Bonnets, Infants Embroidered Robes and Waists, Edgings and Insertings, Lace and Linen, Pointed Collars, Underwear, Hosiery, Gloves, Notions and Housekeeping Dry Goods of all descriptions. We urge our lady friends to favor Mr. Semple's with a call as all will be waited upon courteously and made heartily welcome.

Revenue Seizure.

Yesterday afternoon the U. S. officers made a seizure at the saloon of Casper Rutger on Smithfield street near Seventh avenue. The officers found on the premises a cask which had contained wine, but was then filled with vinegar. It had a revenue stamp upon it, uncanceled—the stamp being marked as coming from the First Revenue District of Ohio, in 1869. The accused was arrested and taken before Commissioner Gamble when he gave bail for a hearing.

The New York Tribune says: A gentleman from the North, doing business in Florida, calmly writes to a friend in Washington that he has been ordered to leave the State "under penalty of death." Although he adds that "times are getting a little sultry down here," he appears to be taking matters coolly enough, for he by no means intends to leave, but writes so that, in case he should be accidentally "rubbed out," his friends may know what has become of him. This young man, who hails from Massachusetts, lived formerly in the hottest times in Kansas, and was then a soldier in the Union army; so that he is too well-seasoned to be easily scared; and our notion is that the Ku Klux had better let him alone.

For none but the educated Physician, who has made these subjects a specialty is likely to succeed in restoring the patient to health and strength.

To all such, Drs. JORDAN and DAVIESON offer certain and speedy relief, and undertake no cases but those in which they are able to guarantee a safe, certain, and permanent cure. Their important Medical Work may be had from their office, 198 Penn street, on receipt of 25c.; and also as usual from their head establishment, 1625 Filbert street, Philadelphia.
